Compiled and Edited by
J. HOWARD MYERS, Clerk of the Senate
Charleston, West Virginia

JARRETT PRINTING COMPANY

CHARLESTON, W. VA.

Foreword

In compiling this, the thirty-first volume of the West Virginia Blue Book, every effort has been made to make it both practical and serviceable for its users.

Only through the prompt and efficient cooperation of the contributors was it possible to edit and complete such an edition, and I wish to express my sincere thanks to all those who so graciously participated.

The fishing map in color, attached to the back cover, was made possible through the efforts of Jack K. Shipman, Director of the Conservation Commission. We are indeed grateful to both Mr. Shipman and the Commission for this courtesy.

WEST VIRGINIA

By ROY LEE HARMON

(Poet Laureate of West Virginia)

This was no land for lily-fingered men
Who bowed and scraped and danced a neat quadrille,
In towns and cities far beyond the ken
Of mountaineers—Who loved each rock and rill.

It was a place for lean, tall men with love
For freedom flowing strongly in their veins,
For those attuned to vagrant stars above,
To rugged peaks, deep snows and June-time rains.

And so our State was whelped in time of strife
And cut its teeth upon a cannon ball;
Its heritage was cleaner, better life,
Within the richest storehouse of them all.

With timber, oil and gas and salt and coal,
It bargained in the world's huge marketplace.
The mountain empire reached a mighty goal;
It never ran a pauper's sordid race.

And best of all, it sired a hardy flock
Whose fame will grow with centuries to be,
Tough as a white-oak stump or limestone rock,
The mountaineers—who always shall be free.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Under Chapter 30, Article I, Code 1931, all boards of examination and registration are governed by the following general rules, unless otherwise specifically provided:

Each board is required to adopt an official seal, make such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law, as it deems best, and hold at least two meetings each year. Each board is also given power to compel the attendance of witnesses, and its officers are authorized to administer oaths.

Each applicant for license or registration must transmit with his application an examination fee of $20, unless a different fee is especially provided by law. Each board is allowed to charge $5 for each license or certificate issued and the same sum for every duplicate thereof. All licenses or certificates of registration are required to be numbered serially and to be signed by a majority of the members of the board, and each board has power to revoke, for cause, the certificate it issues. An applicant who has been refused a license, or a licensee whose certificate has been revoked, has the right of appeal from the action of the board to the Circuit Court of the county in which he resides.

Unless otherwise specified, members of boards are allowed $10 per day for each day actually spent in attending sessions of the board or of its committees and in necessary travel, and are entitled to reimbursement for all actual and necessary expenses in carrying out their official duties.

The State Law Librarian, from West Virginia reports furnished him by the superintendent of public printing, supplies all judges of courts, West Virginia State officers and State law libraries of other states with copies of these reports.

The law governing the State Law Library provides that the library shall be open to the judges of the Supreme Court and the clerks, judges of the United States and circuit courts, state officers, and members and officers of the Legislature during the session of that body. Section Four

CONSTITUTIONAL

Declaration of Independence

United States Constitution

Constitution of West Virginia

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

MADE BY THE ORIGINAL THIRTEEN STATES IN CONGRESS
AT PHILADELPHIA

UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED JULY 4, 1776

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the Powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security.—Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused, for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our government:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every state of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injuries. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in general Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as free and independent States, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent States may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

And such parts of the said beds, banks and shores as lie opposite, and adjoining the several counties of this State, shall form parts of said several counties respectively.

[All of the territory of West Virginia was taken from the Commonwealth of Virginia and in the first constitution forty-four of the above named counties were designated as forming the State of West Virginia, and in addition the counties of Berkeley, Hampshire, Hardy, Jefferson, Morgan and Pendleton were to be admitted should the constitution be adopted by a vote of the people of the districts comprising the counties. The districts adopted the constitution and these six counties became a part of the State.

The remaining five counties were created by acts of the legislature as follows: Mineral County, from Hampshire County, on February 1, 1866; Grant County, from Hardy County, on February 14, 1866; Lincoln County, from parts of Cabell, Putnam, Kanawha and Boone Counties, on February 23, 1867; Summers County, from parts of Greenbrier, Monroe, Mercer and Fayette Counties, on February 27, 1871; and Mingo County, from Logan County, on February 23, 1895.]

[The Senate is now composed of thirty-two, and the House of Delegates of ninety-four members.]

Senators and Delegates—Terms of Office

The Senators first elected shall divide themselves into two classes, one Senator from every district being assigned to each class; and of these classes, the first to be designated by lot in such manner as the Senate may determine, shall hold their seats for two years, and the second for four years, so that after the first election, one-half of the Senators shall be elected biennially.

Dividing the population of every Delegate District, and of every county not included in a Delegate District, by the ratio thus ascertained, there shall be assigned to each a number of Delegates equal to the quotient obtained by this division, excluding the fractional remainder. The additional Delegates necessary to make up the number of which the House is to consist, shall then be assigned to those Delegate Districts, and counties not included in a Delegate District, which would otherwise have the largest fractions unrepresented; but every Delegate District and county not included in a Delegate District shall be entitled to at least one Delegate.

Designation of Delegate Districts

8. Until a new apportionment shall be declared, the counties of Pleasants and Wood shall form the first Delegate District, and elect three Delegates; Ritchie and Calhoun the second, and elect two Delegates; Barbour, Harrison and Taylor the third, and elect one Delegate; Randolph and Tucker the fourth, and elect one Delegate; Nicholas, Clay and Webster the fifth, and elect one Delegate; McDowell and Wyoming the sixth, and elect one Delegate.

[There are now no delegate districts, each county having at least one member.]

9. Until a new apportionment shall be declared, the apportionment of Delegates to the counties not included in Delegate Districts, and to Barbour, Harrison and Taylor counties, embraced in such districts, shall be as follows:

To Barbour, Boone, Braxton, Brooke, Cabell, Doddridge, Fayette, Hampshire, Hancock, Jackson, Lewis, Logan, Greenbrier, Monroe, Mercer, Mineral, Morgan, Grant, Hardy, Lincoln, Pendleton, Putnam, Roane, Gilmer, Taylor, Tyler, Upshur, Wayne, Wetzel, Wirt, Pocahontas, Summers and Raleigh counties, one Delegate each.

To Berkeley, Harrison, Jefferson, Marion, Marshall, Mason, Monongalia and Preston counties, two Delegates each.

To Kanawha County, three Delegates.

To Ohio County, four Delegates.

[Many changes have been made in this apportionment. Kanawha County, the largest in population, now has eight Delegates.]

Arrangement of Senatorial and Delegate Districts

10. The arrangement of the Senatorial and Delegate Districts, and apportionment of Delegates, shall hereafter be declared by law, as soon as possible after each succeeding census, taken by authority of the United States. When so declared they shall apply to the first general election for members of the Legislature, to be thereafter held, and shall continue in force unchanged, until such Districts shall be altered, and Delegates apportioned, under the succeeding census.

Additional Territory May Be Admitted Into State

11. Additional territory may be admitted into, and become part of this State, with the consent of the Legislature and a majority of the qualified voters of the State, voting on the question. 50. The Legislature may provide for submitting to a vote of the people at the general election to be held in 1876, or at any general election thereafter, a plan or scheme of proportional representation in the Senate of this State; and if a majority of the votes cast at such election be in favor of the plan submitted to them, the Legislature shall, at its session succeeding such election rearrange the Senatorial Districts in accordance with the plan so approved by the people.

*The Budget System

51. The Legislature shall not appropriate any money out of the treasury except in accordance with the following provisions:

Sub-Section A

Every appropriation bill shall be either a budget bill, or a supplementary appropriation bill, as hereinafter mentioned.

Sub-Section B

First: Within ten days after the convening of the Legislature, unless such time shall be extended by the Legislature for the session at which the budget is to be submitted, the Board of Public Works, which shall consist of the Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Attorney General, Superintendent of Free Schools and Commissioner of Agriculture, shall submit to the Legislature two budgets, one for each of the ensuing fiscal years. Each budget shall contain a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues for the particular fiscal year to which it relates; and shall show the estimated surplus or deficit of revenues at the end of such year. Accompanying each budget shall be a statement showing: (1) the revenues and expenditures for each of the two fiscal years next preceding; (2) the current assets, liabilities, reserves and surplus or deficit of the State; (3) the debts and funds of the State; (4) an estimate of the State's financial condition as of the beginning and end of each of the fiscal years covered by the two budgets above provided; (5) any explanation the Board of Public Works may desire to make as to the important features of any budget and any suggestion as to methods for the reduction or increase of the State's revenue.

Second: Each budget shall be divided into two parts, and the first part shall be designated "Governmental Appropriations" and shall embrace an itemized estimate of the appropriations: (1) for the Legislature as certified to the Board of Public Works in the manner hereinafter provided; (2) for the Executive Department; (3) for the judicial department, as provided by law, certified to the Governor by the Auditor; (4) to pay and discharge the principal and interest of any debt of the State of West Virginia hereafter created in conformity with the Constitution and all laws enacted in pursuance thereof; (5) for the salaries payable by the State under the Constitution and laws of the State; (6) for the aid of the public schools in conformity with the laws of the State; (7) for such other purposes as are set forth in the Constitution and laws made in pursuance thereof.

*This section, known as "The Budget Amendment," added to Article VI, was proposed by Senate Joint Resolution No. 1, adopted May 23, 1917, (Acts 1917, Extraordinary Session), and was ratified at the general election in 1918. Vote on the amendment: For ratification, 51,405; against ratification, 26,651; majority, 24,754.

Third: The second part shall be designated "General Appropriations," and shall include all other estimates of appropriations.

The Board of Public Works shall deliver to the presiding officer of each House the budgets and a bill for all proposed appropriations of the budgets clearly itemized and classified; and the presiding officer of each House shall promptly cause said bill to be introduced therein, and such bill shall be known as the "Budget Bill." The Board of Public Works may, before final action thereon by the Legislature, amend or supplement either of said budgets to correct an oversight or in case of an emergency, with the consent of the Legislature by delivering such an amendment or supplement to the presiding officers of both Houses; and such amendment or supplement shall thereby become a part of said budget bill as an addition to the items of said bill or as modification of or a substitute for any item of said bill such amendment or supplement may affect.

The Legislature shall not amend the budget bill so as to create a deficit but may amend the bill by increasing or diminishing the items therein relating to the Legislature, and by increasing the items therein relating to the judiciary, but except as hereinbefore specified, may not alter the said bill except to strike out or reduce items therein: Provided, however, That the salary or compensation of any public officer shall not be increased or diminished during his term of office; and such bill when and as passed by both Houses shall be a law immediately without further action by the Governor.

Fourth: The governor and such representatives of the boards, officers and commissions of the State expending or applying for State's money as have been designated by the Board of Public Works for this purpose, shall have the right, and when requested by either House of the Legislature it shall be their duty to appear and be heard with respect to any budget bill during the consideration thereof, and to answer inquiries relative thereto.

Sub-Section C—Supplementary Appropriation Bills

Neither House shall consider other appropriations until the budget bill has been finally acted upon by both Houses, and no such other appropriations shall be valid except in accordance with the provisions following:

(1) Every such appropriation shall be embodied in a separate bill limited to some single work, object or purpose therein stated and called herein a supplementary appropriation bill; (2) each supplementary appropriation bill shall provide the revenue necessary to pay the appropriation thereby made by a tax direct or indirect, to be laid and collected as shall be directed in said bill unless it appears from such budget that there is sufficient revenue available; (3) no supplementary appropriation bill shall become a law unless it be passed in each House by a vote of a majority of the members present, and the yeas and nays recorded on its final passage. Each supplementary appropriation bill shall be presented to the Governor of the State as provided in section fourteen of article seven of the Constitution and thereafter all the provisions of said section shall apply.

Nothing in this amendment shall be construed as preventing the Legislature from passing in time of war an appropriation bill to provide for the payment of any obligation of the State of West Virginia within the protection of section ten of article one of the Constitution of the United States.

Sub-Section D—General Provisions

First: If the "Budget Bill" shall not have been finally acted upon by the Legislature three days before the expiration of its regular session, the Governor may, and it shall be his duty to issue a proclamation extending the session for such further period as may, in his judgment, be necessary for the passage of such bill; but no other matter than such bill shall be considered during such extended session except a provision for the cost thereof.

Second: The Board of Public Works for the purpose of making up its budgets shall have the power, and it shall be its duty, to require from the proper State officials, including herein all executive departments, all executive and administrative officers, bureaus, boards, commissions and agencies expending or supervising the expenditure of, and all institutions applying for state monies and appropriations, such itemized estimates and other information, in such form and at such times as said board shall direct. The estimates for the legislative department, certified by the presiding officer of each House, of the judiciary, as provided by law, certified by the Auditor, and for the public schools, as provided by law, shall be transmitted to the Board of Public Works, in such form and at such times as it shall direct, and shall be included in the budget.

The Board of Public Works may provide for public hearings on all estimates and may require the attendance at such hearings of representatives of all agencies, and all institutions applying for state monies. After such public hearings, it may, in its discretion, revise all estimates except those for the legislative and judiciary departments, and for the public schools as provided by law.

Third: The Legislature may, from time to time, enact such laws, not inconsistent with this section, as may be necessary and proper to carry out its provisions.

Fourth: In the event of any inconsistency between any of the provisions of this section and any of the other provisions of the Constitution, except amendments thereto heretofore made and ratified by the people, the provisions of this section shall prevail. But nothing herein shall be construed as preventing the Governor from calling extraordinary sessions of the Legislature, as provided by section seven of article seven, or as preventing the Legislature at such extraordinary sessions from considering any emergency appropriation or appropriations.

If any item of any appropriation bill passed under the provisions of this section shall be held invalid upon any ground, such invalidity shall not affect the legality of the bill or of any other item of such bill or bills.

Motor Fuel and Motor Vehicle Revenue

52. Revenue from gasoline and other motor fuel excise and license taxation, motor vehicle registration and license taxes, and all other revenue derived from motor vehicles or motor fuels shall, after the deduction of statutory refunds and cost of administration and collection authorized by legislative appropriation, be appropriated and used solely for construction, reconstruction, repair and maintenance of public highways, and also the payment of the interest and principal on all road bonds heretofore issued or which may be hereafter issued for the construction, reconstruction or improvement of public highways, and the payment of obligations incurred in the construction, reconstruction, repair and maintenance of public highways.

Forestry

53. The Legislature may by general law define and classify forest lands and provide for cooperation by contract between the State and the owner in the planting, protection, and harvesting thereof. Forest lands embraced in any such contract may be exempted from all taxation or be taxed in such manner, including the imposition of a severance tax or charge as trees are harvested, as the Legislature may from time to time provide. But any tax measured by valuation shall not exceed the aggregate rates authorized by section one of article ten of this Constitution.

[This section was proposed by House Joint Resolution No. 7, (Acts, Regular Session, 1945, p. 640) and ratified at the General Election November 5, 1946. Vote on the amendment: For ratification, 179,150; Against ratification, 148,104; Majority, 31,046.]

3. The returns of every election for the above named officers shall be sealed up and transmitted by the returning officers to the Secretary of State, directed to "the Speaker of the House of Delegates," who shall, immediately after the organization of the House, and before proceeding to business, open and publish the same, in the presence of a majority of each House of the Legislature, which shall for that purpose assemble in the Hall of the House of Delegates. The person having the highest number of votes for either of said offices, shall be declared duly elected thereto; but if two or more have an equal and the highest number of votes for the same office, the Legislature shall, by joint vote, choose one of such persons for said office. Contested elections for the office of Governor shall be determined by both Houses of the Legislature by joint vote, in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

[The amendment of this section was proposed by House Joint Resolution of February 15, 1901 (Acts 1901, p. 460) and ratified at the general election in 1902. The effect of the amendment was to strike out the following at the end of the original section: "The Secretary of State shall be appointed by the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and shall continue in office, unless sooner removed, until the expiration of the official term of the Governor by whom he shall have been appointed." For the vote on the adoption of the amendment, see note following section 2.]

[The amendment of this section was proposed by House Joint Resolution of February 15, 1901 (Acts 1901, p. 460) and ratified at the general election in 1902. 6. The Governor shall at the commencement of each session, give to the Legislature information by message, of the condition of the State, and shall recommend such measures as he shall deem expedient. He shall accompany his message with a statement of all money received and paid out by him from any funds, subject to his order, with vouchers therefor; and at the commencement of each regular session, present estimates of the amount of money required by taxation for all purposes.

Extraordinary Legislative Sessions

7. The Governor may on extraordinary occasions convene, at his own instance, the Legislature; but when so convened it shall enter upon no business except that stated in the proclamation by which it was called together.

Governor to Nominate Certain Officers

8. The Governor shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, (a majority of all the Senators elected concurring by yeas and nays) appoint all officers whose offices are established by this Constitution, or shall be created by law, and whose appointment or election is not otherwise provided for, and no such officer shall be appointed or elected by the Legislature.

Recess Vacancies—How Filled

9. In case of a vacancy, during the recess of the Senate, in any office which is not elective, the Governor shall, by appointment, fill such vacancy, until the next meeting of the Senate, when he shall make a nomination for such office, and the person so nominated, when confirmed by the Senate (a majority of all the Senators elected concurring by yeas and nays) shall hold his office during the remainder of the term, and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified. No person, after being rejected by the Senate, shall be again nominated for the same office, during the same session, unless at the request of the Senate; nor shall such person be appointed to the same office during the recess of the Senate.

Governor's Power of Removal

10. The Governor shall have power to remove any officer whom he may appoint in case of incompetency, neglect of duty, gross immorality, or malfeasance in office; and he may declare his office vacant and fill the same as herein provided in other cases of vacancy.

Remission of Fines and Penalties by Governor

11. The Governor shall have power to remit fines and penalties in such cases and under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; to commute capital punishment and, except when the prosecution has been carried on by the House of Delegates, to grant reprieves and pardons after conviction; but he shall communicate to the Legislature at each session the particulars of every case of fine or penalty remitted, of punishment commuted and of reprieve or pardon granted, with his reasons therefor.

When any State officer has executed his official bond, the Governor shall, for such causes and in such manner as the Legislature may direct, require of such officer reasonable additional security; and if the security is not given as required, his office shall be declared vacant, in such manner as may be provided by law.

How Bills Become Laws

14. Every bill passed by the Legislature shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the Governor. If he approve, he shall sign it, and thereupon it shall become a law; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the House in which it originated, which House shall enter the objections at large upon its journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, a majority of the members elected to that House agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by a majority of the members elected to that House, it shall become a law, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor. But in all such cases, the vote of each House shall be determined by yeas and nays to be entered on the journal. Any bill which shall not be returned by the Governor within five days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Legislature shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall be filed with his objections in the office of the Secretary of State within five days after such adjournment, or become a law.

Respecting Appropriations of Monies

15. Every bill passed by the Legislature making appropriations of money, embracing distinct items, shall before it becomes a law, be presented to the Governor; if he disapproves the bill, or any item or appropriation therein contained, he shall communicate such disapproval with his reasons therefor to the House in which the bill originated; but all items not disapproved shall have the force and effect of law according to the original provisions of the bill. Any item or items so disapproved shall be void, unless re-passed by a majority of each House according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the preceding section in reference to other bills.

Vacancy in Governorship, How Filled

In case of the death, conviction or impeachment, failure to qualify, resignation, or other disability of the Governor, the President of the Senate shall act as Governor until the vacancy is filled, or the disability removed; and if the President of the Senate, for any of the above named causes, shall become incapable of performing the duties of Governor, the same shall devolve upon the Speaker of the House of Delegates; and in all other cases where there is no one to act as Governor, one shall be chosen by joint vote of the Legislature. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of Governor before the first three years of the term shall have expired, a new election for Governor shall take place to fill the vacancy.

Vacancies in Other Executive Departments

17. If the office of Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, State Superintendent of Free Schools, or Attorney General, shall become vacant by death, resignation, or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the Governor to fill the same by appointment, and the appointee shall hold his office until his successor shall be elected and qualified in such manner as may be prescribed by law. [The amendment of this section was proposed by House Joint Resolution of February 15, 1901 (Acts 1901, p. 460) and ratified at the general election in 1902. The only change in the original section was the insertion of the words "Secretary of State" in the first line and by substitution of the words "prescribed" for the word "provided." For the vote on the adoption of the amendment, see note following section 2 of this article.]

Salaries of Officials

19. The officers named in this article shall receive for their services a salary to be established by law, which shall not be increased or diminished during their official terms, and they shall not, after the expiration of the terms of those in office at the adoption of this amendment, receive to their own use any fees, costs, perquisites of office, or other compensation, and all fees that may hereafter be payable by law, for any service performed by any officer provided for in this article of the Constitution, shall be paid in advance into the State treasury.

[This section, prior to amendment, read as follows: "The Governor shall receive for his services a salary of twenty-seven hundred dollars per annum and no additional emolument, allowance or perquisite shall be paid or made to him, on any account. Provision for Filling Supreme Court Vacancies

7. If from any cause a vacancy shall occur in the Supreme Court of Appeals, the Governor shall issue a writ of election to fill such vacancy at the next general election for the residue of the term, and in the meantime he shall fill such vacancy by appointment until a judge is elected and qualified. WEST VIRGINIA CHILDREN'S HOME

Elkins

Superintendent: Dee B. Gainer. Financial Secretary: Myrtle C. Gainer. Inmates: 76.

The West Virginia Children's Home is located in Elkins. It was established by an act of the Legislature in 1899, and formally opened in 1911, to serve as a Home for orphan and neglected boys and girls. In 1935 an appropriation was allotted for an additional unit. The site upon which the two-story brick building is located, contains a 20-acre tract of ground facing Heavner Avenue. In addition to the ground site for the Home, there is a 127-acre farm used for grazing. A modern dairy barn and chicken houses are located on the Home site and a two-room school building with two teachers, one of whom is the principal, is operated on the County Unit plan. The purpose of the Home is to keep, train, educate and maintain the children between the ages of six to fourteen years, until they can be placed in foster homes. Religious training is provided, and every boy and girl who can do anything is given some job in the Home or on the farm. The sanitary conditions of the Home are excellent and the health of the children is very good. All meats, milk, poultry products and our summer vegetables are raised on the Home site and farm.

WEST VIRGINIA COLORED CHILDREN'S HOME

Huntington

Superintendent: David L. Hays. Inmates: 34.

West Virginia Colored Children's Home, located in the City of Huntington, was incorporated in 1900 as West Virginia Normal and Industrial School for Colored Orphans. Purchased by the State in 1911 at which time name was changed to West Virginia Colored Orphan's Home. For some years the institution was supported by private contributions raised by the general manager and friends and by income from the boarding hall and farm. In 1903 the Legislature made a yearly appropriation of $1,500 and in 1910 this was raised to $3,000. The purpose of this institution is to provide for Negro orphans and neglected children under the age of 16 and such other children of like age that may be surrendered by their parents in case the latter be invalid, to be kept, maintained, educated and trained until they can be placed in foster homes. The operating program of this institution provides for the total development of the total child to effective citizenship. Provisions have been made for pupils in the institution completing high school work to attend West Virginia State College or Bluefield State College.

WEST VIRGINIA HOME FOR AGED AND INFIRM COLORED MEN AND WOMEN

(Formerly McKendree Emergency Hospital)

McKendree

Superintendent: George W. Coats. Financial Secretary: Rosetta H. Reed. Physician: A. D. Belton, M. D. Nurse: Mary E. Davis.

The West Virginia Home for Aged and Infirm Colored Men and Women, now located at McKendree in Fayette County, three and a half miles north of Prince, and 15 miles north of Beckley, on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, was established by an act of the Legislature in 1923. The institution was established in Charleston, and in December 1928 was moved to Huntington. Over-crowded conditions and other reasons made it necessary to move the institution again, and on September 13, 1941, it was moved to McKendree, and is now occupying the buildings and grounds of what formerly was McKendree Emergency Hospital. There is sufficient accommodation for 100 inmates. Purpose is to furnish home and comfort for the aged, feeble, infirm and impaired physical condition, as the case may be, of those without means to support themselves, and who have no relatives, friends or organization upon whom, or which, to depend for care and support. Religious and social programs are provided and those physically able are given odd jobs in and around the institution. The home is maintained by the State, with each County or Department of Public Assistance paying a monthly fee for each person it sends to the home.

WEST VIRGINIA TRAINING SCHOOL

St. Marys

Acting Superintendent: Glenn T. Miller. Inmates: 120.

West Virginia Training School, located three miles north of St. Marys on State Route 2, was established in 1921 by an act of the Legislature. The farm contains 694 acres and is an ideal location for the institution. The purpose of the institution is the treatment, training and readjustment of mentally defective children. Because of the limited capacity of the institution, admissions are restricted to boys between the ages of 7 to 14, inclusive.

In 1943, 40 female inmates from the West Virginia Children's Home were moved to this institution. In order to take care of the additional inmates it was necessary to completely remodel the large mansion house on the grounds into a 40-bed dormitory complete. The institution is now divided into a male and female unit. The boys and girls are completely separated from each other.

CORRECTIONAL

WEST VIRGINIA INDUSTRIAL HOME FOR GIRLS

Industrial

Acting Superintendent: Mrs. Alma Straight Weinberg. Financial Secretary: Mrs. Corinne Whiting. Enrollment: 175. Capacity: 200.

West Virginia Industrial Home for Girls is located two miles west of Salem, on U. S. Route 50, and is served by the main line of the B. & O. Railroad. It was established by an Act of the Legislature on February 18, 1897, and formally opened May 5, 1899. It is built on a 73-acre tract, of which 38 acres were donated by the citizens of Salem in 1897. From Jones Cottage, the first building, the plant has grown to include the following: McCullough Cottage, built in 1905; Silver Hall, opened in 1914; Sutton Cottage, opened in 1928; and Ava Stanard Dormitory, built in 1942. The Administration Building, also built in 1942, includes offices and visiting rooms on the first floor. Living quarters for the Superintendent and Financial Secretary, together with a guest suite, comprise the second floor.

Girls in the Home receive standard elementary and accredited first-class high school training, religious and vocational education. To date 128 girls have been graduated from high school and 261 from eighth grade. Among courses offered are commercial work, dressmaking, art, music, journalism, home economics, physical education, and library science, and all state requirements are met. The library and magazines are used by the entire school. Domestic training is most thorough. The school has recently acquired a very complete Home Economics Practice Kitchen and Dining Room. The Home has its own Clinic. The workshop, with 12 power sewing machines, has been closed for the past few years because of shortage of material and lack of competent instructors. This is true also of the beauty culture and weaving courses. These will be resumed whenever materials and personnel are available.

WEST VIRGINIA INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR BOYS

Pruntytown

Superintendent: Robert H. Mollohan. Financial Secretary: Rufus L. Yost. Enrollment: 300.

West Virginia Industrial School for Boys is located at Pruntytown, two miles west of Grafton, on U. S. Route 50. It was established by an act of Legislature in 1889 and was formally opened July 21, 1891. In addition to the principal school buildings which are located on the main campus, consisting of approximately 50 acres, the school owns and operates a farm of approximately 1,900 acres, on which there are located numerous modern farm buildings. The boys are given training in vocational trades in addition to the regular academic schooling. In 1941 a well-equipped elementary school, operated on State-approved standards, was established with the cooperation of the State Department of Education and the College of Education of West Virginia University, and has, for the past three years, been rated as a Model Elementary School by the State Department of Education. Beginning with the school year, 1942, a junior high school was established and has operated since as a First Class Junior High School. A well-planned recreation and physical education program operates under the supervision of two qualified men. Put into effect in 1941 is a social service department which classifies each boy upon his reception, presents him for parole, and maintains liaison between County and State authorities throughout the State. A separate cottage for segregating the small boys of the Institution has been provided and work has been started on a large scale cottage building program which will provide six cottages housing from twenty to thirty boys each. This will make possible the segregation of the remainder of the population according to age and according to seriousness of the offense for which committed.

WEST VIRGINIA INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR COLORED BOYS

Lakin

Superintendent: Ellsworth H. Harpole. Enrollment: 55.

The manner in which people live and conduct themselves reflects their immediate and remote background. Any attempt at social rehabilitation must take these immediate and remote factors into consideration by setting up machinery which will offset detrimental social influences, revive one's religious and social concepts and raise one's moral outlook. To this end, we have adopted as our motto, "Correction Through Education," and hope that through our efforts, boys committed here may eventually return to their respective homes and communities and live respectful, resourceful and fruitful lives.

West Virginia Industrial School for Colored Boys, located ten miles north of Point Pleasant on State Route 62, was established in 1921 by an act of the Legislature. It is a correctional institution for delinquent Negro boys. Work activities are centered on the 1,272-acre farm which furnishes a greater part of the school's food and also the food used at Lakin State Hospital. Together with a six-grade elementary and six-year high school, the institution offers vocational courses in cooking, barbering, auto mechanics and woodwork. Average enrollment is 90.

Many improvements have been effected at the Institution over the past fifteen months. These improvements include a swimming pool 81x40 feet, indoor and outdoor basketball facilities, tennis court, swings, high bars, indoor and outdoor volley ball facilities, indoor and outdoor boxing facilities and improved baseball diamond. We compete with high schools all over the State in our inter-scholastic program of basketball and football. In the 1947 State Golden Gloves Tournament at Huntington, we entered seven boys and three went to the semi-finals.

PENAL

WEST VIRGINIA PENITENTIARY

Moundsville

Warden: Oral Skeen. Financial Secretary: Lillian R. Yost. Inmates: 1,327. Prisoners assigned to road camps and other institutions: 1,008. Total: 2,335.

West Virginia Penitentiary, located in the City of Moundsville, just off State Route 2, was established in 1866 by an act of the Legislature. The Penitentiary itself is a six-acre enclosure on a ten-acre tract of land surrounded by a solid wall of hand-cut sandstone, 675 by 395 feet, 24 feet high, 7 feet wide at base tapering to 28 inches at top, on which is a stone walk-way 42 inches wide. Aimed at reducing the hazards of involuntary idleness, several prison industries have been developed through authority of the 1939 Legislature. These shops are now making commodities for which there is a constant demand in the prison and other state institutions. None of the products manufactured are being sold on the open market. Also contributing greatly to relief of idleness is utilization of prisoners on road construction projects. The 1947 Legislature authorized separate management and control of the West Virginia Medium Security Prison at Huttonsville, and gave the courts authority to sentence direct to the West Virginia Medium Security Prison. The West Virginia State Prison for Women has been established at Pence Springs, therefore, all female inmates have been transferred to the new institution.

MEDIUM SECURITY PRISON

Huttonsville

Warden: Ira E. Briers. Financial Secretary: H. B. Walsh. Inmates: 330.

The Medium Security Prison is located on a farm near Huttonsville and is 18 miles south of Eikins on U. S. Routes Nos. 219 and 250. It was established by an act of the Legislature in 1937 and was designed to relieve over-crowding at the West Virginia Penitentiary and at the same time aid in the rehabilitation of prisoners. The majority of the inmates are employed in general farm work but many are employed in other vocational trades. They are quartered in modernly equipped dormitories in which there are no cells. The farm consists of 3,000 acres of which approximately 1,000 acres is suitable for cultivation and pasture. The farm products produced are in excess of the needs of the institution and are sold to other state institutions. The 1947 session of the legislature separated the Medium Security Prison from the West Virginia Penitentiary and established it as a separate institution. All provisions of the law applicable to the Penitentiary are in effect, except that criminal proceedings against inmates of this institution are brought in the Circuit Court of Randolph County. The same session of the Legislature also authorized the courts to sentence a convicted felon direct to the Medium Security Prison.

WEST VIRGINIA STATE PRISON FOR WOMEN

Pence Springs

Superintendent: Mrs. Grace P. Lockard. Financial Secretary: Lucille McNeill. Capacity: 130 inmates.

Established by an act of the Legislature in 1947, the West Virginia State Prison for Women is located at Pence Springs in Summers County. Berkeley Springs Sanitarium is located in the City of Berkeley Springs. It offers baths and swimming pools which utilize the warm and medicinal waters of Berkeley Springs. Histories of colonists mentioned the qualities of the water as early as 1736. The 1939 Legislature authorized the Board of Control to lease this institution and grounds to private interests to encourage restoration of the spa to the position of national importance that it held from the time of President Washington until the Civil War. The temperature of the spring water is 74.3 degrees and is invariable, and is said to be helpful in the treatment of rheumatism, gout, diabetes, and skin diseases. The sanitarium has no facilities for housing patients, but for those who visit Berkeley Springs for baths, there are adequate hotel and boarding house facilities.

BARBOURSVILLE UNIT

Huntington State Hospital

(Mental)

Barboursville

Superintendent: Mrs. Virginia Comstock, R. N. Financial Secretary: Charles E. Evans. Number of Patients: 314.

The Barboursville Unit of Huntington State Hospital, located at Barboursville, Cabell County and reached by U. S. Route 60, was opened January 20, 1942, to meet an urgent demand for hospitalization of mentally defective people being kept in county jails because of crowded conditions at Weston, Spencer and Huntington. The State in 1941 purchased 23.76 acres of land and the two buildings which were formerly used as dormitories for Morris Harvey College, and patients were moved into the hospital as quickly as each section was reconditioned and equipped. On August 1, 1942, the hospital had a population of 270 patients, its capacity at that time. Since then additional space has been provided through renovation of the buildings until the present capacity of 315 patients has been attained. These 315 beds are constantly filled through transfers from Weston, Spencer and Huntington State Hospitals. The Barboursville Unit is termed an institution for custodial care of mental defectives.

LAKIN STATE HOSPITAL

(Negro Mental)

Lakin

Superintendent: S. O. Johnson, M. D. Financial Secretary: Beatryce Womack.

This institution is located in Mason County, nine miles north of Point Pleasant, on State Route 62. It was founded by an act of the Legislature in 1923, and opened for the treatment of patients in 1926. The hospital is recognized by the American College of Surgeons, West Virginia State Hospital Association, National Medical Association, American Medical Association, American Hospital Association and American Psychiatric Association. A considerable portion of the reservation is utilized in diversified farming, which includes: swine herd, cattle, dairying, chicken farm and in addition the usual vegetables and farm crops. Approximately 250 acres are used for such purposes, and much of the produce is used in the dietary department of the hospital, and the Industrial Home for Boys, which is close by and comes under the Medical Supervision of this Institution. The operations of the farm are facilitated to an appreciable extent by patient labor, as an occupational therapy project. In addition to this the other modern methods of therapy are utilized in our efforts to rehabilitate the mentally ill.

Consistent efforts are made to individualize all cases, as far as practicable in order that a focus of interest be obtained. Thence, through selected assignments effect improvement, by widening their horizon of interest.

The hospital has a maximum capacity of 410 beds, with a yearly daily average of 395. Parole and discharges through the year have been consistent, in addition foster home placements are utilized and encouraged. A recently included psychiatric social worker facilitates much of this program.

MILITARY

West Virginia National Guard

MILITARY

WEST VIRGINIA NATIONAL GUARD

(Corrected to September 1, 1947)

CLARENCE W. MEADOWS, Governor
Commander-in-Chief

CHARLES R. FOX, Brigadier General
The Adjutant General

The West Virginia National Guard is authorized and governed by Article I, Chapter 15, of the West Virginia Code and is constituted as both State and Federal force by authority of the National Defense Act approved 3 June 1916, as amended to January 1, 1945, inclusive. The National Guard is a reserve component of the Army of the United States and is composed of officers and enlisted men who volunteer for duty and are qualified in accordance with Federal and State regulations governing same. In time of peace, the National Guard is a State force, controlled by the Adjutant General as a principal military representative of the Commander-in-Chief. The Adjutant General issues, in the name of the Governor, all orders to the National Guard, disburses funds appropriated by the State Legislature for this purpose and acts as Chief of Staff for the Commander-in-Chief. In the event of war, insurrection, rebellion, invasion, tumult or a case of imminent danger of said events, or in the event of public disaster, the Governor has power to order the West Virginia National Guard or any part thereof, into the active service of the State and to cause them to perform such duty as he shall deem proper. The National Guard is equipped and paid by the Federal Government, but must meet certain organizational and training standards to qualify for Federal recognition. When Congress declares a national emergency and authorizes the use of armed forces requiring troops in excess of those in the Regular Army, the President of the United States may order the National Guard into the active military service of the United States. Initial enlistments in the National Guard are for a period of one year, with reenlistments authorized for either one or three years.

FEDERAL REFORMATORY FOR WOMEN

Alderson

Warden: Miss Helen Hironimus
Associate Warden: Miss Margaret C. Jones
Administrative Supervisor: Richard Hendricks

The Federal Reformatory for Women is situated amidst the foothills of the Allegheny Mountains in Summers, Monroe and Greenbrier Counties. It was established by Act of Congress June 7, 1924, and the buildings and grounds have a value in excess of $2,000,000. It was designed to take care of all women Federal prisoners in the United States and the insular possessions, and has a capacity of 500. There are fifteen buildings housing inmates, a Hospital, Administration Building, Laundry, School Building and Auditorium, Storehouse, Shops and an extensive farm with modern dairy, piggery and truck gardens. The Enabling Act specified that each inmate should be given training that would fit her to be self-supporting on her return to society, and the entire program of the institution is based upon this plan for rehabilitation. An intelligent and sincere attempt is made to supplant the old-time theory of punishment with a program of cleanliness, industry and education in citizenship. Classification and casework is highly developed to provide for adequate training within the institution and proper placement in jobs after release.

UNITED STATES SAVINGS BONDS DIVISION FOR WEST VIRGINIA

UNITED STATES TREASURY DEPARTMENT

State Director: Bernard S. Payne.....	Charleston
Deputy State Director: John N. Cackley, Jr.	Charleston

Clerk-Typist: Mary Leahy.....	Charleston

The United States Savings Bonds Division for West Virginia, successor to the Treasury Department's wartime financing organizations in the state—West Virginia War Savings Staff and West Virginia War Finance Committee—came into being on January 1, 1946, following the successful termination of the Victory Loan drive, in which the state's army of Bond volunteers achieved an all-time high sales performance of 233 per cent of assigned quota.

Establishment of the Treasury's peacetime Savings Bonds organization was mainly one of consolidating the wartime gains made in the habits of thrift by insuring availability of Savings Bonds and Stamps at as many outlets as possible, and encouraging their purchase by the continuance of the methods so successfully employed during the war.

The United States Savings Bonds Division is a part of the office of the Secretary of the Treasury. National Director is Vernon L. Clark, of Des Moines, Iowa. State organizations are headed by state directors. Director for West Virginia is Bernard S. Payne, of Charleston, who became identified with the War Savings Staff as Deputy Manager in May, 1942, later being named executive manager of the West Virginia War Finance Committee. Prior to his affiliation with the Bond program, he was engaged in newspaper work in Columbus, Ohio, Welch and Williamson.

Following the retirement from the "firing line" of the hundreds of patriotic West Virginians who gave unstintingly of their time and talents to the war financing effort, State Advisory Committee was formulated in February, 1946, "to provide every volunteer who so desired a further opportunity for public service." The Committee is composed of approximately one hundred prominent citizens representing business, banking, industry, the church, education, labor, the press, radio, professions, and civic and social organizations. At the request of the Honorable Fred M. Vinson, then Secretary of the Treasury, A. C. Spurr, President of the Monongahela Power Company, of Fairmont, who served as State Chairman of the West Virginia War Finance Committee, accepted the state chairmanship of the advisory committee.

The U. S. Savings Bonds program provides for the financial security of the individual and is of the utmost importance to the national economy. Widespread ownership of Savings Bonds helps effect wide distribution of the national debt, spreads maturities by cutting down the large floating and short-term debt, helps reduce the amount of the debt held by banks and the Federal Reserve System, stabilizes purchasing power, and aids in leveling the peaks and valleys of business. Regular and systematic purchases are made possible through Payroll Savings Plans where people work, and a Bond-A-Month Plan offered by banks to customers with checking accounts.

Three securities comprise the Treasury Department's peacetime Savings Bonds program. They are: Series E, a ten-year appreciation bond bearing interest of 2.9%, compounded semi-annually, when held to maturity; Series F, a twelve-year appreciation bond with a yield of 2.53% if held to maturity; and Series G, a twelve-year current income bond with a yield of 2.5% each year, semi-annually, by Treasury check.

OFFICIAL MUNICIPAL REGISTER

(Corrected to September 1, 1947)

Salem—Harrison County

It was originally New Salem, so named because the settlers who established the town came in a body from Salem, New Jersey. They arrived in the spring of 1792. Two years later, in 1794, it was incorporated.

The first civilized habitation on the land now occupied by the City of Salem was a hunter's camp established by Nicholas Carpenter in 1785 who used it for a hunting and trapping center. He also used it for a sort of crude hotel for himself and his men who drove cattle from Clarksburg to the Ohio river at Marietta which was the nearest market.

Samuel Fitz Randolph purchased the property on which the village was founded in 1790. Mr. Randolph had started with a caravan of pioneer settlers from Salem, New Jersey, who crossed the mountains in 1789 and made their first stop at Woodbridgetown, Pennsylvania. Mr. Randolph, a number of Davises, some Maxsons, and others came on to what is now Salem, after a two and one-half year trek from the sea coast.

Salem was the first settlement of Seventh Day Baptists west of the mountains. It is now the home of Salem College, founded in 1888, and the Industrial Home for Girls established in 1898. Glass has been a major industry. The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and the George Washington highway and state highway No. 43 pass through it. It is the birthplace of Congressman Jennings Randolph and the great writer, Granville Davison Hall, author of Daughter of the Elm, the Rending of Virginia, and many other historical books.

CAPITOL BUILDING

West Virginia's Capitol Building, one of the most beautiful in the nation, was completed in February, 1932, at a cost of $9,491,180.03.

Made up of three wings, the main one of which faces the Great Kanawha River, the building covers 16 acres of ground and has 333 rooms. Floor space is 535,000 square feet. The Building contains 10,300,000 cubic feet. Exterior of the building is Indiana buff limestone and interior is Imperial Danby Vermont marble. Nearly 5,000 tons of steel went into the construction. The dome, covered with 22½-karat gold leaf, is 300 feet high.

Other interesting facts about the building are:

Chandelier in dome weighs 4,000 pounds, has 15,000 candle power, and is suspended 180 feet above floor by a gold chain 54 feet long.

Rug in Governor's reception room weighs 1,809 pounds and measures 26 by 60 feet.

Chandeliers in House and Senate chambers each are made up of 10,000 separate pieces of rock crystal.

Bronze doors on porticos weigh 2,800 pounds each.

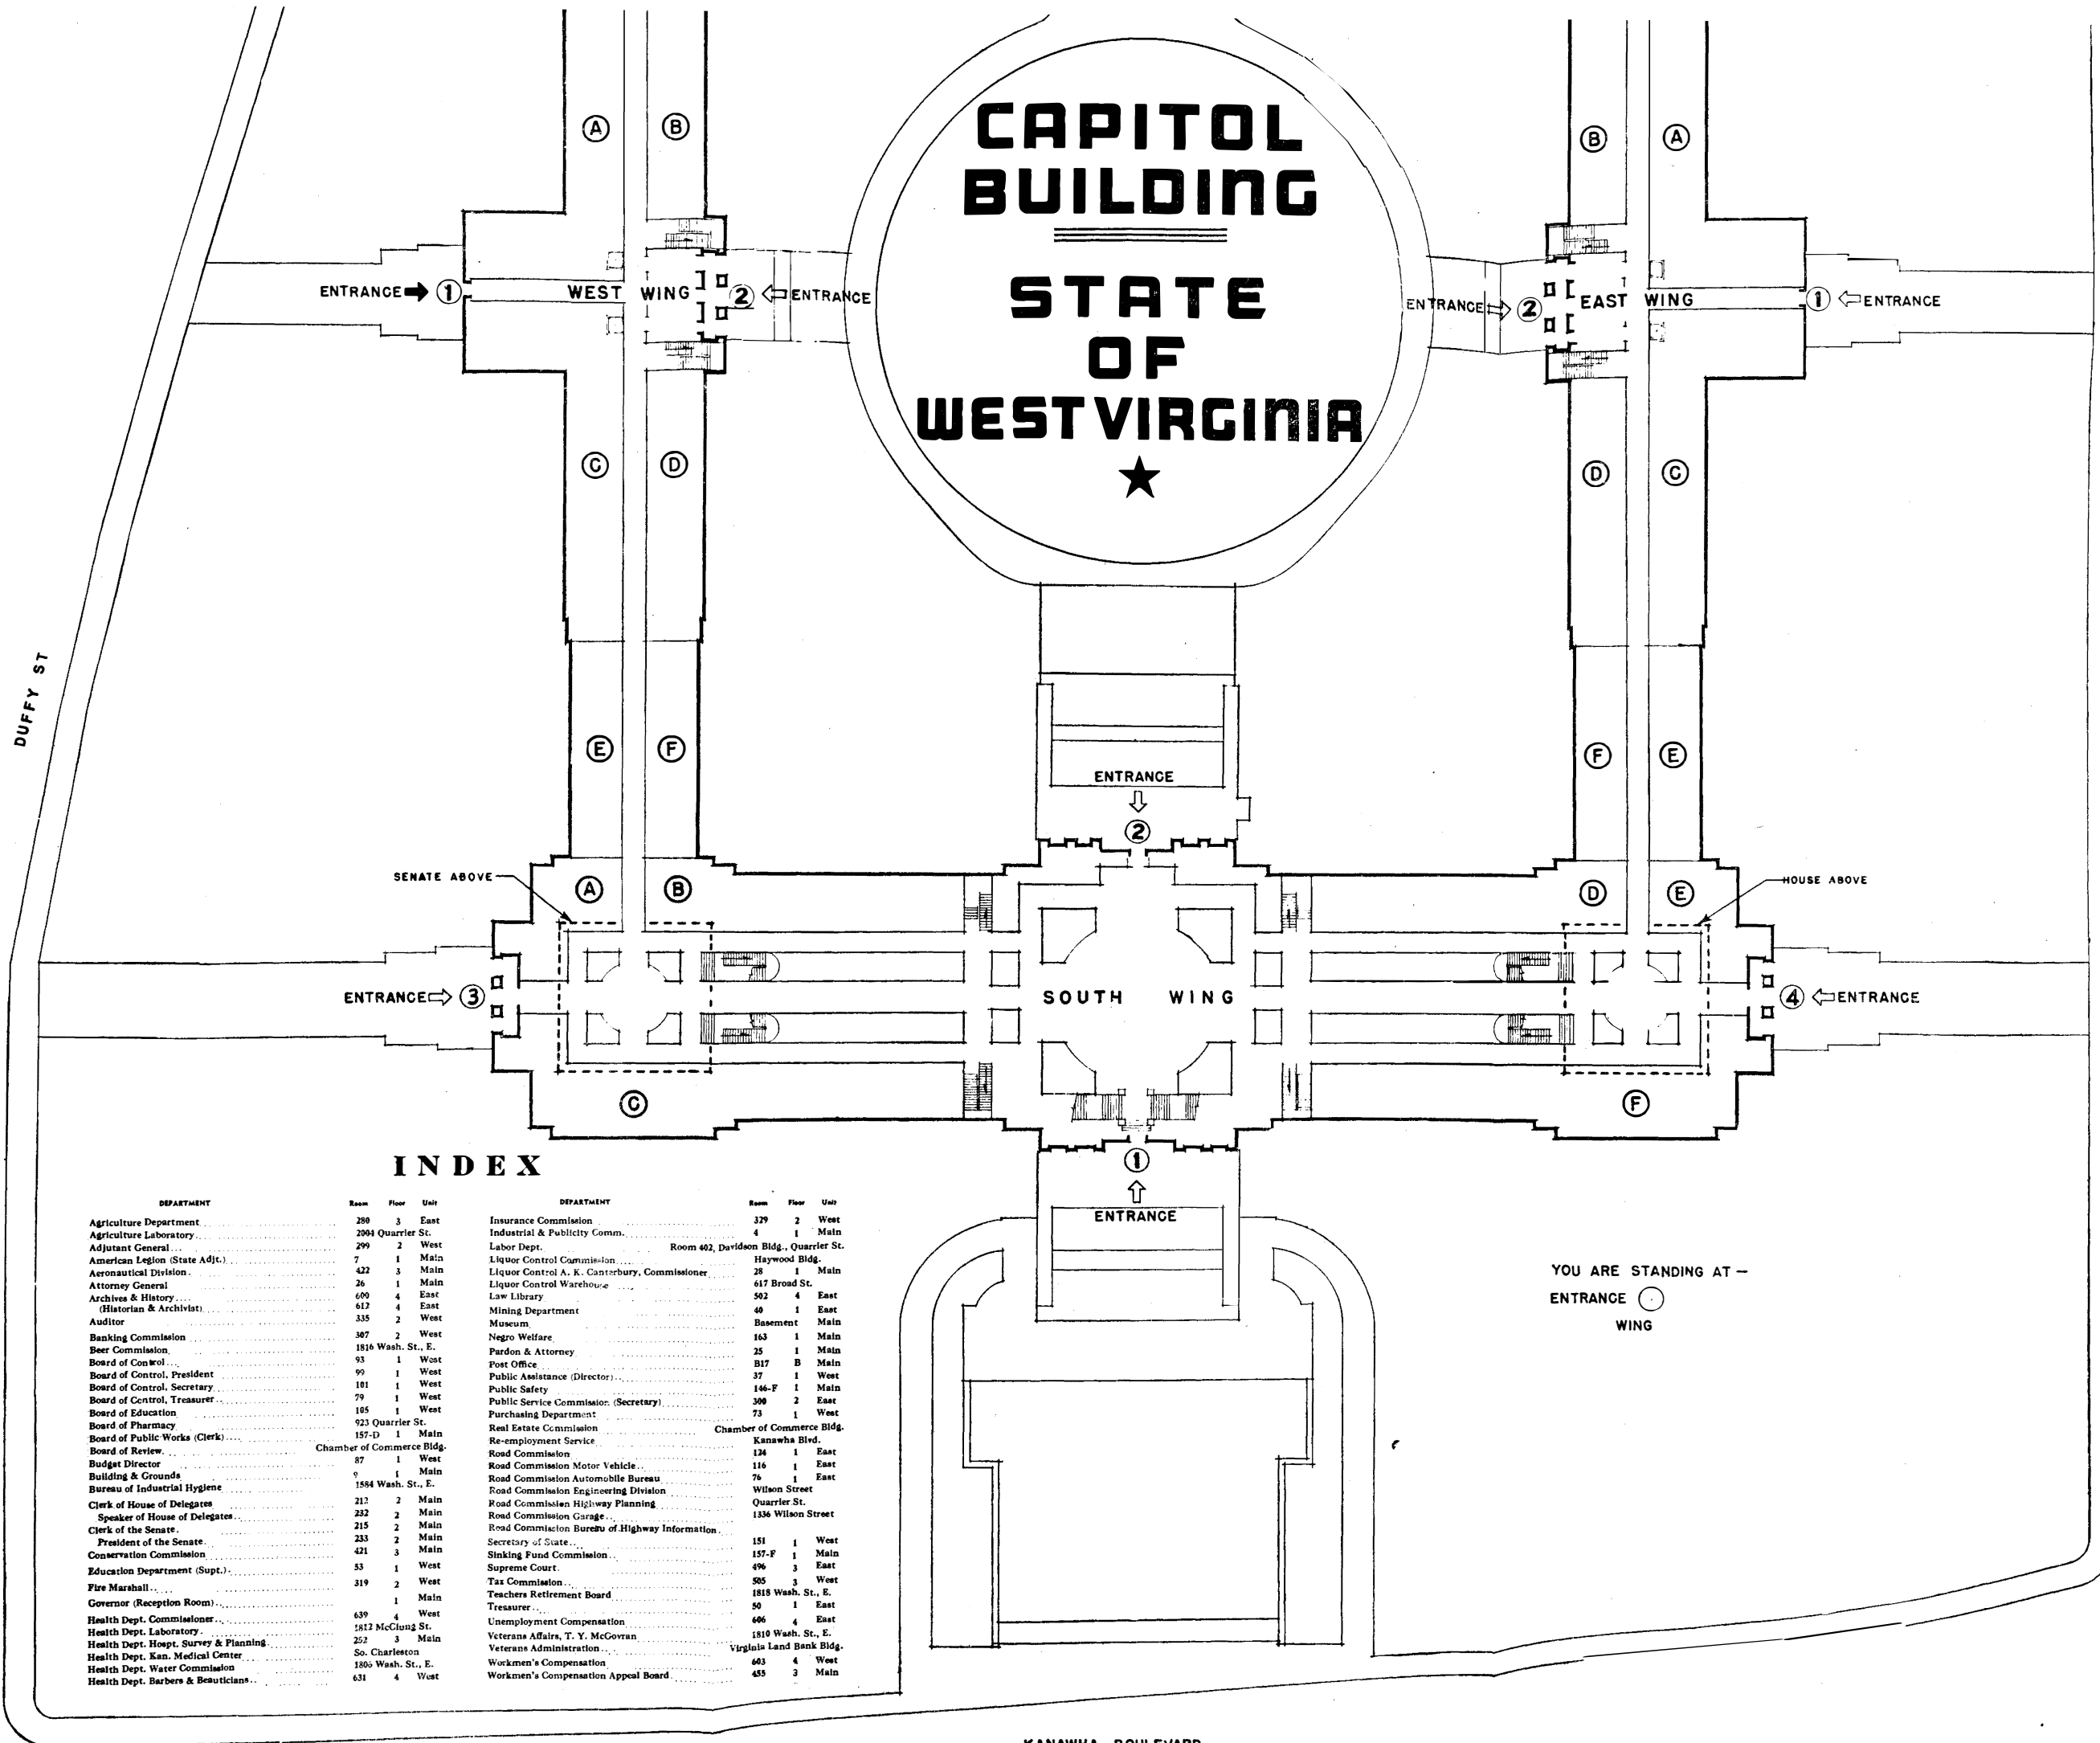

WEST VIRGINIA STATE FLAG

The present design for the West Virginia State Flag was adopted by the Legislature on March 7, 1929. The proportions are the same as those of the United States ensign.

The field is pure white, upon the center of which is emblazoned in proper colors the coat-of-arms of the State, upon which appears the date of the admission of West Virginia into the Union and the motto, "Montani Semper Liberi."

Above the coat-of-arms of the State of West Virginia there is a ribbon lettered "State of West Virginia," and a wreath of rhododendron maximum in proper colors is arranged appropriately around the lower part thereof. The field of pure white is bordered by a strip of blue on four sides.

AERONAUTICS

All Federal Aid for the construction of airports in the State of West Virginia will be channeled through the West Virginia State Aeronautics Commission, by an act of Legislature in March, 1947. All applicants for requests from cities, counties or combinations thereof will now file their requests for Federal Aid through this office.

All are familiar with the successful results of channeling Federal Funds through States in the development of our national highways. In less than a generation, by using the administrative plan of federal-state cooperation, America has paved and built the world's greatest highway system. The application of this administrative principle has been equally successful in the agricultural, educational, health, and social security programs.

On the other hand, we have the history of various emergency programs, including incidentally, the construction of airports—almost all of which have been characterized by inadequate and slipshod planning, administrative confusion, and large scale waste of public funds.

Today we are on the threshold of an air age. It is essential to our national posterity and security that the Federal resources of money and experience be made available to assure the development of the necessary ground facilities for aviation. These facilities are not to benefit one industry. They are for the entire public, for its use for commerce and for travel, for the benefit of our entire national economy; therefore, as the time-tried philosophy of Federal Aid to transportation media has proven itself sound in the cases of rivers and harbors, with railroads and highways, so should it demonstrate its soundness for aviation, by keeping paramount in this program both the local and national interests to the ends that the public needs best be served.

Local groups are urgently requested to move full speed ahead with airport planning and promotion. Make sure that your community has all necessary legislative authority to participate in the program. Get your site selection and design details well under way, and make all possible preparations for the necessary financing, and you can rest assured construction of your project will not be far off.

For Class 1, 2 or 3 airports you may obtain fifty (50%) percent of the cost of the cost of construction from federal funds; for Class 4 or larger the CAA may pay any portion of the allowable cost it sees fit up to 50%. The allowable cost includes: First, the expense of plans and surveys which may be incurred after May 13, 1946; Second, reasonable costs of construction work on the field itself and on administration buildings, but not on hangars; and Third, a part of land costs. The Federal grant on acquisition of lands for the smaller ports is 25%; for larger ports the grant will be at the discretion of the CAA.

West Virginia needs many small type airports. It will be only through the action of the cities, counties or combinations that the State will get these airports. We need to build today for the future.

FISHING STREAMS AND SPECIES

(Compiled by B. D. Wills, Hatcheries Supervisor, Conservation Commission)

For the benefit of anglers who desire information relative to stocked fishing streams and nearest towns in which hotel accommodations can be found, the following list has been prepared. Numerous other streams and tributaries other than these listed have received substantial stockings of fish. These, however, are the largest, most important and probably the most capable of supporting extra heavy angling pressure. It must be understood that the order in which they are listed does not indicate the number of fish placed in the stream or the anglers chances of catching fish. Fishing in any of these streams does not necessarily indicate that the Conservation Commission promises the limit of fish to each fisherman. This is intended merely as a guide.

THE STATE TEACHERS RETIREMENT SYSTEM

By RICHARD E. HYDE, Executive Secretary

In 1941 the Legislature of West Virginia made educational history by passage of a modern teacher retirement law, which was broadened by amendments in 1945 and 1947.

The general administration and responsibility for the operation of the State Teachers Retirement System and for making effective the provisions of the retirement act are vested in the Teachers Retirement Board composed of seven members: the governor, who is chairman ex officio, the state budget director, the state insurance commissioner, the state superintendent of schools, and three teacher members elected by the members of the retirement system, in accordance with regulations approved by the retirement board. At the election held in 1948 a teacher-member of the board will be elected for a four-year term; in 1950 a teacher-member will be elected for a five-year term; thereafter, all elections will be for six-year terms. All elective terms begin on the first day of July. Vacancies occurring in the terms of elected members are filled within sixty days for unexpired periods by the retirement board; however, if the board fails to fill such vacancy within sixty days, the chairman appoints a member of the retirement system to serve for the remainder of the unexpired term. Members of the board serve without compensation, receiving, however, salaries from their employers and reimbursements for expenses while performing board duties. The attorney general of the State is the legal adviser of the board.

The board employs an executive secretary and the technical and administrative employees necessary to carry out the provisions of the act. Individual accounts are kept, showing each member's contributions and accrued interest at three percent compounded annually. At least once within the first three years of the operation of the law and each quinquennial period thereafter, the board is required to employ a competent actuary to make an evaluation of the system. Annual reports showing the condition of the various funds are made.

Members of the state teachers retirement system are eligible for an annuity after thirty-five years of service as a teacher in West Virginia, or after attaining the age of sixty years with at least five years service. Upon attaining age sixty-five, the member must retire, unless his employer requests his retention in writing to the retirement board, and the retirement board approves such request.

A member is eligible for a disability annuity, if he satisfies the conditions specified in both (a) and (b) as follows: (a) service as a teacher in West Virginia must total at least ten years, and such service must have been terminated because of disability; (b) an examination by a physician or physicians selected by the retirement board must show that the member is mentally or physically incapacitated for service as a teacher, that for such service the disability is total and likely to be permanent, and that he should be retired in consequence thereof.

Members of the retirement system contribute four percent of their monthly salaries to individual accounts in the Teachers Accumulation Fund. At the retirement of the contributor, the State pays three percent per annum interest on the member's contributions, and matches the contributions and interest thereon. This money is applied to an annuity table for computation of annuity due.

Upon written application a member may borrow from his accumulated contributions, subject to these restrictions: (a) Loans are made in multiples of fifty dollars, and may not exceed either twice the member's monthly salary or one-half of his accumulated contributions; (b) members who are within five years of qualifying for age or service retirement are not eligible for loans; (c) interest charge is six percent per annum; (d) if a refund or benefit is payable to the borrower before he pays the loan with interest, the balance due is deducted from such refund or benefit; (e) the member repays the loan through monthly deductions from his salary.

When members withdraw from service for causes other than death or retirement, upon request, they are paid their own accumulated contributions with interest, four months after quitting service; at death such payments are made to the member's estate or to a person nominated by the member by written notice filed with the retirement board. Ten years after a teacher ceases to be a member of the system, if he does not claim his contributions and the board cannot locate him, such contributions are forfeited to the retirement system. A teacher with twenty years service, upon withdrawal from membership, may elect to receive at retirement age an annuity which is the actuarial equivalent of his accumulated contributions with interest plus the employer's contributions with interest.

Through authorization granted in the retirement law, the Teachers Retirement Board approved the following five annuity options, one of which the teacher selects at retirement:

Option A: Annuity payable for the lifetime of the teacher.

Option B: Annuity payable for the lifetime of the teacher, and provided that, in the event of the teacher's death before the total annuity payments, supported by teacher's contributions, equal the teacher's accumulated contributions at retirement, a sum equal to the balance (determined upon an actuarial basis) of such contributions shall be paid to the beneficiary of the estate.

Option B-1: Annuity payable for the lifetime of the teacher, and provided that, in the event of the teacher's death before the total annuity payments, supported by teacher's and employer's accumulated contributions, equal the teacher's and employer's contributions at retirement, a sum equal to the balance (determined upon an actuarial basis) of such contributions shall be paid to the beneficiary of the estate.

Option C: Annuity payable for the lifetime of the teacher, and provided that, should the teacher die prior to the beneficiary, the annuity would be continued for the same amount to the beneficiary for the lifetime of the beneficiary.

Option D: Annuity payable for the lifetime of the teacher, and provided that, should the teacher die prior to the beneficiary, the annuity would be continued for half the amount to the beneficiary for the lifetime of the beneficiary.

Members of the retirement board are the trustees of all the funds of the system. Investments are made only in bonds of the United States Government and bonds of the State of West Virginia, or one of its subdivisions such as a county, school district or municipality. When a governmental subdivision issues bonds, it must offer to sell them to the retirement board before advertising; however, the board of public works accepts or rejects the offer.

The following statistical summary shows the growth of the retirement system during the first six years of its existence, and attention is called to these important developments: (1) number of retired teachers increased from 754 to 1,183; (2) benefits paid to retired teachers increased from $347,818.76 to $639,552.19; (3) interest on investments, from $1,913.09 to $362,925.00; (4) average refund to former members from $36.46 to $111.46; (5) and average death refund, from $31.43 to $239.55.

GEOGRAPHICAL CENTER OF WEST VIRGINIA

The geographical center of the State is 4¾ miles southeast of Sutton, 6 miles south of Flatwoods, and 4 miles west of Centralia.

DEPTH AVAILABLE FOR NAVIGATION

(Data furnished by the War Department)

Ohio River—Improvement of the Ohio River, as authorized by Congress in the River and Harbor Act of June 25, 1910, provides for a channel depth of 9 feet in the entire 981 miles of the river by the construction of locks and dams and open channel work. The system of locks and dams throughout the river provides a navigable depth of 9 feet at ordinary river stage. New dams of modern design have been completed near Hogsett, West Virginia, (Gallipolis Lock and Dam), at Montgomery Island, 32 miles below Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and at Emsworth Locks, 6.2 miles below Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Monongahela River, West Virginia and Pennsylvania—The existing project provides for improvement of the river by 13 locks and dams to afford slack-water navigation for its entire length from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, to one mile above Fairmont, a distance of 128 miles. The project is approximately complete and the controlling depth between Pittsburgh and Point Marion, Pennsylvania, 90.6 miles above the mouth is 9 feet, and above Point Marion 7 feet to the upper limits of the project.

Kanawha River, West Virginia—The existing project provides for the construction of 3 modern dams on the Kanawha River, with twin locks at London, Marmet and Winfield, and the Gallipolis lock and dam on the Ohio River, near Hogsett, West Virginia, to furnish a 9-foot navigable depth from the Ohio to a point 90.57 miles above the mouth. The dams at London and Marmet were completed in 1934, and the Winfield dam in 1937. The Gallipolis lock and dam was completed in October, 1937, thus making available a channel depth of 9 feet from the mouth of the river to the head of navigation.

Big Sandy River, West Virginia and Kentucky, including Levisa and Tug Forks—The existing project provides for 3 locks and dams on the main river, and one lock and dam each on Levisa Fork and Tug Fork. Only the lower lock and dam on the main river is in operation at the present time to provide a slack-water depth of 6 feet from the Ohio River to a point about 10 miles above the mouth. The remaining two structures on the main river have movable dams which are placed in use only at such times as the needs of navigation require. The Levisa Fork Lock and Dam No. 1 and the Tug Fork Lock and Dam No. 1 have not been operated for several years.

Tygart River Reservoir—The Tygart River Dam, located on the Tygart River, 2¼ miles upstream from Grafton, as authorized by the Public Works Administration January 11, 1934, and approved by Congress in the River and Harbor Act of August 30, 1935, provides for a dam 1,880 feet long and 207 feet high for the storage of 290,000-acre tract of water to control floods and aid navigation in the Monongahela River. The dam has been completed and is now in operation as a unit in the reservoir system for the protection of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and the upper Ohio Valley generally.

Bluestone Reservoir Project—This Federal public works undertaking was authorized by Presidential executive order in 1935 and approved by Congress under the Flood Control Act of 1936. Construction work did not get underway until early in 1942, however, when the Dravo Corporation of Pittsburgh, Pa., the principal contractors, started construction of the dam. In January, 1943, the War Production Board directed that construction of the project be deferred except for a certain amount of work required to bring the project to a safe point of suspension. This work completed during February, 1944, consisted principally of completing that portion of the dam inside the first cofferdam to a level approximating that of the top of the cofferdam and removal of the cofferdam.

The project is expected to cost about 27 million dollars when entirely complete. The reservoir project, designed by Army Engineers to provide flood control for the "war industry" Kanawha and Ohio Valleys, will also generate electric power and will aid navigation on the lower river. The dam when completed will be 165 feet high and 2,060 feet long. The reservoir will serve a watershed drainage area of 4,565 square miles and will provide a lake some 36 miles long. A water-head of about 135 feet will be impounded behind the dam which is located just outside the corporation limits of Hinton on New River. The proposed ultimate power installation will provide an average primary energy output of 122 million kilowatt hours and a secondary energy output of about 300 million kilowatt hours, with a gross annual power value of $1,625,000.

INDUSTRIAL BUILDING IN HIGH GEAR IN WEST VIRGINIA

By W. C. HANDLAN, Executive Director,
West Virginia Industrial and Publicity Commission

West Virginia industry during 1947 is writing in brick, stone, concrete, steel and glass an impressive record of new and diversified industrial construction. A part of the construction is new industry, introducing new names to West Virginia manufacturing, but a significant division of the total is represented by expansion and modernization of old, established manufacturing plants which have found West Virginia soil a congenial place in which to extend their roots and spread their branches.

It is important to the State's economy that new, widespread industrial construction not only is providing employment for those in the building trades but, particularly in the case of new industries, is creating jobs for the future. General Cigar Company of New York, a brand new enterprise in Huntington, has gone into production after spending something like $2,000,000 on real estate and improvements, and eventually will employ around 900 persons. American Cyanamid Company, building a multi-million dollar plant on an expansive acreage outside St. Marys, will become one of the State's large employers of labor. At Beckley, where a new 85,000 square-foot modern factory building will be erected for Decker Clothes, Inc., of Chicago, another newcomer to the State, employment will be provided, according to plan, for 600 persons. These are only three examples in point.

It is possible, of course, to elaborate on the picture. For example, the new huge generating plants being constructed by Appalachian Electric at Graham, and Monongahela Power at Willow Island will be, in themselves, fresh inducements to new industry to move into the State—creating new jobs in construction, new jobs for the future. Industries of specific types are attracted by new and growing industries of a complementary nature. Industry builds new industry.

Wheeling Steel Corporation, spending upwards of $30,000,000 in modernization and expansion.

Weirton Steel Company, engaged in a multi-million dollar development program.

American Cyanamid building an impressive plant at Willow Island for the manufacture of inorganic pigments, drugs and plastic bases.

E. I. DuPont de Nemours Company building a multi-million dollar plant near Parkersburg for the manufacture of "Lucite" acrylic resin, polythene molding powders and nylon bristles and molding powders.

General Cigar, now operating at Huntington, making White Owl cigars.

New building for Augustus Pollock, Inc., at Wheeling, one of the oldest tobacco manufacturers in the nation.

New $1,300,000 plant at Wheeling Machine Products Company at Elm Grove, ready for operation.

Half-million dollar addition to Louis Marx and Company, toy manufacturing plant at Glendale.

Large addition to Fostoria Glass plant at Moundsville.

Glyco Products Company of Brooklyn, a new firm, starting manufacture of general chemicals at Natrium.

Columbia Chemical division of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company expanding operations at Natrium where chlorine and caustics are manufactured.

New plant under way for Decker Clothes at Beckley.

New plant being built for Virginia Woolen Company at Middleway, Jefferson County.

Bluefield Ribbon Company operating new plant at Bluefield.

American Container Corporation, new plant at Huntington. This newcomer to the State manufactures battery containers and will employ 300 persons.

Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corporation, building a new products and research laboratory and office building at South Charleston.

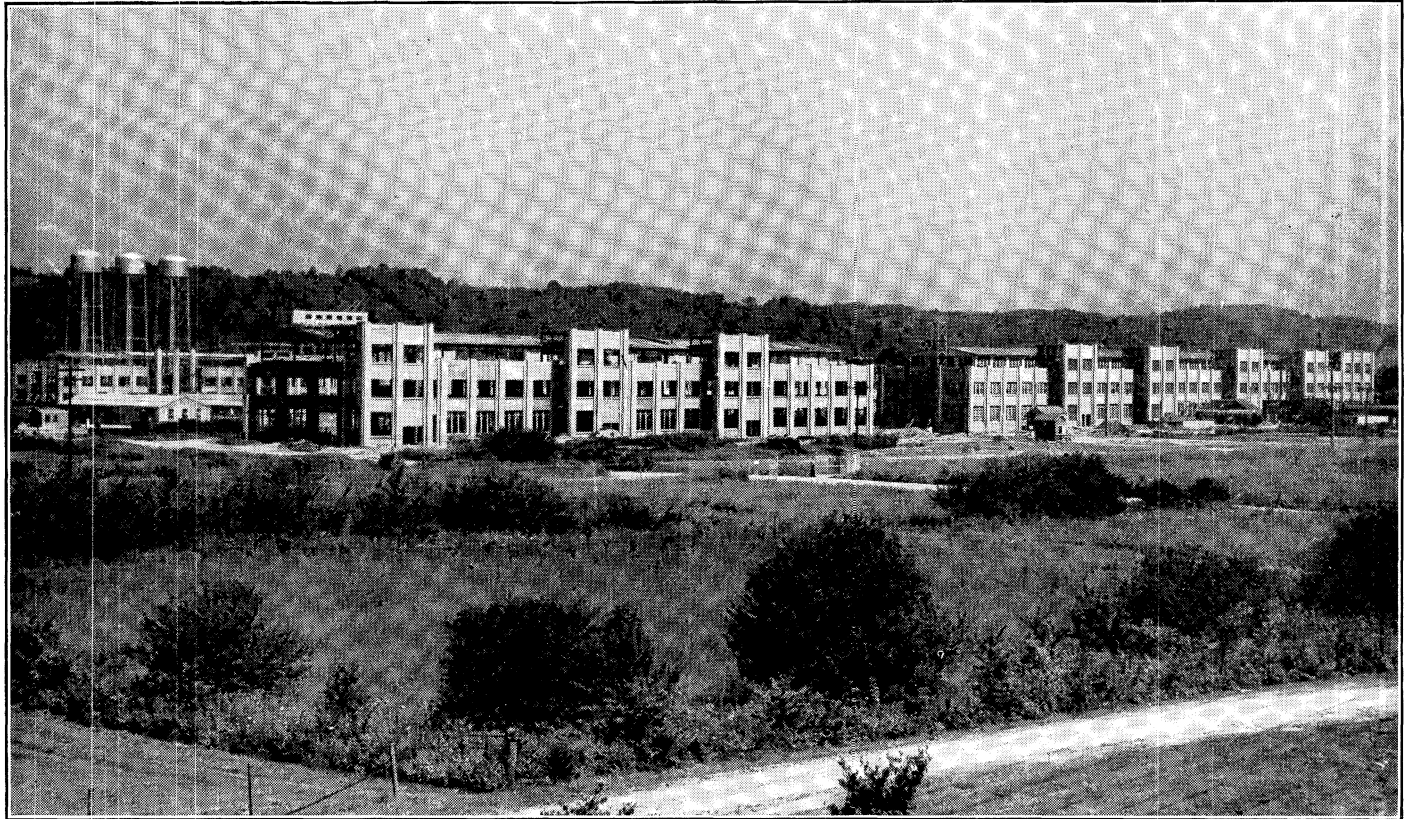

Large construction program under way at Monsanto plant at Nitro.

Ditto at American Viscose in the same community.

Of special interest not only to the building trades but to individual communities throughout the State are plans which have been formulated by more than a dozen West Virginia cities and towns to erect buildings for new and desirable manufacturers, or as a means of helping existing industries to expand.

Obviously West Virginia's industrial future is not to follow a narrow track. Indicating the diversity of the State's manufacturing interests is the record of new corporations chartered during 1946. Among 59 manufacturing firms receiving charters, these interests were included: apparel, amusement equipment, concrete products, drugs and cosmetics, electrical appliances, glass, jewelry, mattresses, machinery, tools and castings, notions, optical, plastics, rubber products, tents and awnings, toys and furniture, and wood products.

Obviously, too, West Virginia manufacturers are driving into the future with confidence—confidence in their products, confidence in the men and women of West Virginia who make those products. West Virginia steel-makers are now operating "the fastest mill of its type in the world," rolling strip steel at a rate of a mile a minute. A new addition brings West Virginia the distinction of having "the largest toy factory in the world under one roof." Under construction is "the largest coal preparation plant in the world," designed to upgrade raw coal for high quality metallurgical coke. Of course "the largest this" and "the greatest that" aren't in themselves important. It is what these things represent—the aggressive, confident ideas behind them, and the faith and confidence of the men and women who, in the final analysis, do the job—that is important.

New Willow Island Works of Calco Chemical Division, American Cyanamid Company, under construction near St. Marys. Folic Acid, the new synthetic antianemia vitamin, other pharmaceuticals, inorganic pigments and Melamine, a plastic base with numerous applications, will be produced here.

WEST VIRGINIA'S TRADE AND INDUSTRIAL POSITION TODAY

(Prepared by the Research Staff, West Virginia Chamber of Commerce)

Geographical Advantages

West Virginia is located within a 500-mile radius of more than 50% of the population of the United States, and within this radius is also located 60% of the Nation's effective buying power.

The State lies principally in the Appalachian Mountain Range, and its topography is as irregular as its border, elevations ranging from 240 feet above sea level at its lowest point at Harpers Ferry to 4,860 above sea level on Spruce Knob in Pendleton County. Its mean elevation of 1,500 feet is the highest of any state east of the Rockies and in extensive areas provides an attractive climate for vacationers. Although the physical characteristics of West Virginia cause the climate to be varied, it is nevertheless comfortable, with the temperature averaging 53.2 degrees and with an ample and well-distributed rainfall averaging 45.05 inches.

Because of the topography, avenues of communication and commerce in West Virginia naturally more or less follow the streams and valleys, so that the State is widely divided in its economic relations, not only within its own borders but with other states. Northern West Virginia has interests in common with Ohio and Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh being a trade and banking center for that section. Eastern West Virginia is relatively close to the Atlantic coast with Washington and Baltimore as trading centers. The western section of the State finds its outlet to market through the Ohio Valley and trade relations center in Cincinnati, while the people of several southern counties have much in common with Virginia.

While West Virginia's terrain is mountainous, it is not excessively rugged, and its beautiful valleys and mountain streams are increasingly attractive to tourists. Economic development of the State as a vacation spot holds tremendous possibilities once its reputation as a tourist center is established.

The State is 39th in size and its land area is 15 million acres, approximately two-thirds of which is more suitable for forests and pastures than for cultivation or urban development.

Population and Income

In the last official census of 1940, West Virginia ranged 27th among all the states with a population of 1,901,974. While the State contributed proportionately more than its share of young people to the armed forces in World War II, the State was not a victim of substantial or permanent migratory movements of its population to war industry centers as was the case in some states. Estimated population on July 1, 1947, of 1,807,091 indicates that almost 100,000 of the State's people remain in the armed forces or have not yet returned from out-of-state war plants. It is believed that completion of post-war adjustments will confirm the upward population trend of the past 35 years. West Virginia has 72 persons per square mile compared with the Nation's average of 41; 93.8% of her people are white; 97.7% are native born, and almost 85% of her citizens were born within the borders of the State.

There are no metropolitan areas of great size within the State, but three cities have populations greater than 65,000 and in eight other municipalities population ranges from 16,000 to 35,000.

The income of West Virginia's people in 1946 reached one billion six hundred and fifty million dollars, which is more than double that of twenty years ago. On a per capita basis this would mean $913 for every man, woman and child in the State, representing a 13% increase over per capita income for 1945, and placing the State ninth among the 48 states in 1946 percentage increase over 1945. West Virginia's per capita income in 1940 was only $398.

Natural Resources

Although West Virginia is the 39th state in area, it ranks fourth in the Nation in the total value of mineral production, the figure being $597,377,000 for 1945. In proportion to area, West Virginia has the largest mineral output of any state, with a value of mineral production of some $25,000 from each square mile of its territory in 1945. Only a few of the sparsely settled western states have a greater mineral output per capita than has West Virginia.

The State's natural resources were originally developed primarily to support industries in other states, and capital naturally came from investment centers in many other states. Nevertheless, numerous local enterprises were founded in the early years of the State's history, study of which reveals many interesting examples of pioneering enterprise.

Coal Mining

Mining of bituminous coal is West Virginia's largest industry and since 1931 it has led all other states in production. More than one-fourth of the Nation's bituminous coal comes from this State, and in 1946 the production figure was 144,000,000 tons which compares with the 1944 record figure of 165,000,000 tons, a truly remarkable performance during that period of the war when so many miners were in the service. A monthly average of 114,000 miners were employed in the production of coal in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1947, receiving $379,000,000 in wages. The importance of coal's contribution to the purchasing power of the people of the State must also be considered in relation to the dependent manufacturing and processing industries which annually pay wages equal to those paid directly by the coal industry.

Every kind of bituminous coal is found in West Virginia and one of its numerous seams is considered the most valuable mineral deposit known anywhere in the world. Recoverable reserves of coal, after the 1946 production year, are conservatively estimated at 60 billion tons which figure may be compared to the total recorded production since 1883 of only 4.5 billion tons. Making no allowance for future technological advances, West Virginia's coal seams can continue to produce at the present rate for nearly 400 years.

Natural Gas and Oil Production

West Virginia produces more natural gas than any other state east of the Mississippi River and now ranks fifth in this respect among all the states. Production declined, however, in 1944 and 1945 from its 1943 volume, a decline not wholly due to exhaustion of the State's proven reserves, but at least partially attributable to shortages of labor and drilling equipment. Toward the close of 1945, new developments in the southern and east-central parts of the State were so fruitful as to cause a reversal of the declining trend of output in 1946, and 1947 production to date favorably compares to the 1943 rate. West Virginia natural gas production in 1946 is estimated at 203 billion cubic feet as compared to 192 billion cubic feet in 1945. At the present time, natural gas is imported in great quantities from the Southwest and redistributed through West Virginia's pipeline system, constituting a major threat in normal times to West Virginia's coal markets as well as to the State's gas producing industry. Three-fourths of West Virginia's output of gas is piped across the State's borders and only 25% is consumed by the State's domestic and industrial users. Approximately 9,000 West Virginia gas and oil workers received $19,350,000 in wages in 1946. Natural gasline valued at more than three million dollars and liquefied petroleum gases valued at more than one million dollars are obtained annually from natural gas in West Virginia.

West Virginia's new production of petroleum is largely incidental to that of natural gas, and except for 1945, the 1946 output of 2,929,000 barrels was the smallest volume recorded since production began over 50 years ago. West Virginia crude oil, however, is of "Pennsylvania Grade" which is the best quality produced in the United States.

Stone, Sand and Gravel

A mineral of vast chemical possibilities is limestone which is found in great quantity and wide variety in the eastern counties of the State. The Bessemer process of steel manufacture provides great demand for West Virginia limestone, and millions of tons have been quarried and shipped to Pittsburgh and other steel centers. Great quantities of limestone are used in the manufacture of Portland cement, also in concrete aggregate, railroad ballast, rock dusting of coal mines, in road construction and for agricultural lime. Of the total United States limestone tonnage, 3% is secured in the State. In 1946, West Virginia production of stone increased 11% in volume over 1945, and its total value was nearly four and a half million dollars.

Sand and gravel for molding and building is available in numerous localities throughout the State but the sand of most importance is that used in the making of glass. Extensive deposits of West Virginia glass sand run as high as 99.89% in pure silica. In 1946, sand and gravel produced in the State was valued at $4,518,000, an increase of 36% in value over that of 1945.

Salt and Brines

The necessity for drilling deep holes to reach West Virginia salt brines caused the early invention of tools and development of drilling practices upon which the petroleum industry of the world was founded. Commercial salt production, West Virginia's oldest industry, remains a million dollar enterprise, and output of brines has played a significant role in the spectacular development of the State's chemical industry. Although the commercial salt industry of the Kanawha Valley has yielded ground to outside competition, West Virginia's newly developed solid salt beds, extending along the Ohio River from above Wheeling, on the north, to Point Pleasant, on the south, offer a new field for the further development of the chemical industry.

Lumber

The 10 million acres of forest land in West Virginia comprise approximately 65% of the total land area of the State. West Virginia's forests are predominantly hardwood, and in 1946 the State ranked first in the Nation in the production of hardwood lumber. Responding to the post-war demand, lumber production of all kinds increased 70 million b.m. ft. in 1946 over 1945, total output being 548 million b.m. ft. Production in 1946 compares favorably with a high during war-time of 655 million b.m. ft., and indicates that the capacity of West Virginia's mills and forests is by no means being fully utilized. According to reports of the Workmen's Compensation Fund for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1947, 12,000 workers were paid nearly 20 million dollars in wages in the West Virginia lumber industry.

Electric Power

Keeping pace with the development of the electric power industry throughout the country, West Virginia now has within its borders, a generating capacity slightly in excess of 1,000,000 K.W.H., more than 90% of which is in steam plants utilizing coal produced in West Virginia. Electrical energy output in the State has been stabilized at a point just short of 6 billion K.W.H. for the past four years. In 1946, however, three-fourths of a billion K.W.H. of capacity were not utilized, largely as a result of the coal mine shutdowns. U. S. steam electric plants used 72 million tons of bituminous coal in 1945, yet only 3 million of West Virginia's 152 million tons of coal output was used for this purpose, facts which show the repressive effect of competition from governmentally subsidized hydro plants upon the expansion of West Virginia steam power plants.

Manufacturing

The value of peacetime manufacturing output in West Virginia has multiplied more than three times in the past 35 years, and in terms of 1926 dollars (which discounts both inflationary and deflationary trends), value for 1946 is estimated at $869,000,000, yet the value of the State's manufactured products is still far out of balance with its production of bituminous coal and gas, natural resources which are immensely important in many manufacturing processes and which the State produces in large volume. With 130 million tons of raw coal or about 90% of the total produced annually, and 75% of the total production of natural gas being shipped out of the State annually, it can readily be seen that the State is exporting an extraordinarily large part of its potential wealth.

Abundant supplies of high quality glass sand and natural gas have made West Virginia an important glass-making center and it now ranks third among all the states in output of flat, blown or pressed glass, and glass containers. In the manufacture of pottery and enamelware, West Virginia leads all other states, the Northern Panhandle being generally regarded as the "Ceramic Center of the World." According to the reports of the Workmen's Compensation Fund, the glass, pottery, and brick and tile industries employed 28,893 workers in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1947, at a total annual wage of $71,134,386.

Construction

Construction contracts, depressed in volume during war-time, reached a record peak in dollar value during 1946, although inflated costs indicate a physical volume of construction of only average proportions. The value of contracts awarded in 1946 was $84,072,000, a figure to be compared to $52,567,000 of such awards during the first seven months of 1947 and to the previous record of $81,248,000 in construction contracts awarded in 1925, record-holding year of the past.

Transportation

The excellent facilities of West Virginia's railroads are an important factor in the State's progress industrially and commercially. With four trunk line railroads running east and west and three lines running in a north-south direction, most of the State is adequately served by rail transportation. Six Class I railroads maintain 6,552 miles of a total trackage of 7,243 miles within the State.

West Virginia's highway system of 33,129 miles, including approximately 4,837 miles of primary and 28,292 miles of secondary roads, is also most important economically. Federal highway arteries link the State with its neighbors in every direction, and the State's principal cities are only overnight by passenger train from New York, Chicago and other metropolitan centers.

The Ohio, Monongahela, Kanawha, Little Kanawha and Big Sandy Rivers within and along the borders of the State have been made navigable in whole or in part for river transportation, the total navigable distance being approximately 500 miles. The commercial channels of the State's navigable rivers vary from a depth of 4 feet on the Little Kanawha to 11 feet on that part of the Monongahela which extends from the State's border to Pittsburgh.

The construction of facilities for commercial air transportation in West Virginia has practically all been undertaken during the past fifteen years. At the present time, there are more than thirty-five airports which may be considered adequate for commercial transportation. A number of east-west transcontinental airlines as well as some north-south flights now cross the State.

Agriculture

Of West Virginia's total area, 58% is classified as farm land, and the U. S. Census Bureau shows the State as having 97,600 farms in 1946, with nearly half a million persons embraced in the farm population. Cash farm income, representing cash sales plus value of farm products consumed on the farm was estimated at $168,525,000 in 1946 of which nearly half was from livestock and livestock products. The State ranks second among the states east of the Mississippi in the number of purebred Hereford herds and third in the number of animals in purebred Hereford herds.

The gross per capita income of West Virginia's farm population was only $390 in 1946, from which it is quite evident that increased production on West Virginia's farms remains a major economic problem, but one to which the solution is made relatively easy because of the great demand for all kinds of farm products on the part of a rapidly increasing industrial population which now imports a large proportion of its food requirements. Gross income from milk, eggs, and poultry production, however, has risen tremendously in the past ten years. Highly organized also is West Virginia's commercial apple industry which showed a $11,561,000 cash income in 1946 with the State regularly ranked among the top apple producing states of the Nation.

Wholesale and Retail Trade

Preliminary estimates for 1946 West Virginia wholesale and retail trade of 709 million dollars and 985 million dollars respectively, indicate that such sales are more than double their dollar volume of 10 years ago. Increases over the 1945 dollar volume were $184 million at wholesale and $210 million at retail. Despite these increased expenditures for goods, however, the figures must be viewed in the light of a combination of higher prices and lower quality of merchandise which serves to depress the living standards of the people.

Banking and Insurance

It is estimated that $361 in surplus income was left in the hands of each West Virginian after all purchases at retail were made in 1946, and a large portion of this was invested in life insurance. Ordinary life insurance sales in the State in 1946 were greater in volume than those of any year on record and reached a total of more than $125 million, a 50% increase over similar sales in 1945. Total bank deposits as of June 30, 1947, in the State's 181 State and National Banks were $862 million.

Taxation

West Virginia's system of taxation has been somewhat awkwardly developed but nevertheless in such manner as to cause all segments of the population to make reasonably equitable contributions to the support of state and local government. When viewed separately some parts of the tax structure appear to bear disproportionately on the affected groups, an example being the so-called Gross Sales, or "Business and Occupation Privilege" tax, which is regarded by many manufacturers and directors of extractive industries as unduly burdening their products, but it must be borne in mind that West Virginia imposes neither a net corporate income tax nor a personal income tax, and furthermore, that assessment ratios, both against real estate and manufacturing facilities, are generally made on non-utility corporations at rates as low as 10% to 40% of "true and actual" value. The sales tax principle, as applied to producer as well as to consumer in West Virginia, is responsible for nearly 50% of the total tax income at the state and local level, this State being one of the leaders in the application of this increasingly popular tax principle.

Conclusion

In reviewing the West Virginia industrial picture today, it is well to keep in mind the present-day trend to eliminate unnecessary transportation costs in the assembly, manufacture and marketing of manufactured articles. West Virginia is favorably situated for future industrial development because it is the source of many raw products needed in industry; it has an abundance of power obtained from coal; its natural gas is a source of fuel, heat and power; it is within a day's journey by rail or highway to more than half the Nation's population; its transportation facilities are well developed; its climate is moderate, its rainfall abundant and its climatic conditions and elevation offer ideal living conditions for its working force. The future economic welfare of the State depends in a large measure how skillfully and intelligently these potential resources are developed in the years to come.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

By ROBERT F. ROTH, Director

THE PUBLIC WELFARE LAW OF WEST VIRGINIA

Condensed Statement of Its Enactment, Its Purposes, and Its Services

The Public Welfare Law of West Virginia was enacted June 20, 1936, to take effect from passage, the Legislature "declaring itself eager to provide, so far as it is possible to do so, for the permanent protection of its citizens against the recurring misfortunes of life." The act modernized the statutory provisions relating to welfare services assembling them into a single integrated system, and created the State Department of Public Assistance and a public assistance office in each county to administer the State's welfare services.

Provision is made for three general kinds of public welfare services:

1. Assistance to the extent necessary to safeguard a decent and healthful existence;
2. Treatment aimed at restoring health;
3. Service designed to protect the welfare of certain groups.

Cash assistance is made available in the following forms: Old Age Assistance, Aid to the Blind, Aid to Dependent Children, and General Relief. These types of cash assistance are financed entirely from the State and Federal funds. Primary financial responsibility for General Relief rests upon the counties, although State funds are available as appropriated by the Legislature for supplementation when county funds are insufficient. The eligibility requirements for cash assistance are established by the Public Welfare Law, and there are three requirements which are common to all four types of cash assistance: need, residence in the State, and the responsibility of certain relatives to assist an indigent person. The necessity for complying with these eligibility requirements readily differentiates the assistance through the department from pension plans.

Old Age Assistance

Old Age Assistance, as the name implies, is available only to needy persons when they become sixty-five years of age. Although the Public Welfare Law stipulates that a maximum monthly grant of $40 can be paid an Old Age Assistance recipient, the actual grant depends upon an individual's needs and the funds appropriated for assistance purposes.

Aid to the Blind

Aid to the blind can be granted only to those persons with extremely limited vision. The degree of vision which enables an applicant to qualify for this form of assistance is set forth in the Public Welfare Law and is determined by medical examination.

Aid to Dependent Children

Aid to dependent children is designed to prevent the breaking up of homes when children are deprived of parental support because of a parent's death, absence from home, or physical or mental incapacity. This form of assistance has made it possible for thousands of children to remain in their homes under the supervision of their mothers, with opportunity to obtain education and parental care.

General Relief

Needy persons who do not qualify for any other form of assistance may be provided for through the General Relief Program. Treatment to restore health for those in need is provided through three separate programs: general medical care and hospitalization, adult physical rehabilitation, and crippled children's services.

General Medical Care

General medical care is provided persons, irrespective of age, on a needs basis, and includes treatment by physicians, surgery, dental care, and the fitting of glasses.

Crippled Children's Services

The State Department provides medical, surgical, and other corrective treatment to those children for whom adequate care, treatment and rehabilitation is not available from other than public services.

Three kinds of services are available to protect the welfare of certain groups: children, veterans and persons with visual defects. These services are available to any resident of West Virginia, irrespective of financial circumstances.

Child Welfare

The Public Welfare Law gives the State Department of Public Assistance wide responsibility for the protection, care and treatment of any child under eighteen years of age who is destitute, homeless, or abandoned; has not proper parental care or guardianship; is living in an improper place; violates a law or municipal ordinance; engages in an occupation which is in violation of law, etc. This includes supervision of children in their own homes or in foster homes; children who are being adopted; children on probation from juvenile courts or who are paroled from state correctional institutions. The Public Welfare Law charges the State Department with licensing and supervision of institutions giving care to children.

Conservation of Vision and Prevention of Blindness

Service to persons with visual handicaps is aimed at helping them to secure treatment, education, employment, and in making satisfactory adjustments to their handicaps so that they can lead a happy and productive life. To the extent of available funds, treatment is provided to restore vision or prevent loss of vision. Employers are contacted to enlist their support for safety devices that reduce industrial hazards to vision and to assist visually handicapped persons in obtaining employment.

General Statement

The confidential character of Public Assistance records is set forth in Sec. 16, Art. 11, Ch. 9, of the Public Welfare Law, in order to prevent misuse of Public Assistance lists and records.

Assistance and service through the Department of Public Assistance are administered through offices located in each county seat. County offices take applications and establish eligibility for the various assistance programs under the immediate supervision of county councils. Each county council consists of five members, four of whom are appointed by the Governor, all of whom serve without pay. The president of each county court is a member ex officio of the county council, and not more than three members can belong to the same political party. The State Department directs and supervises the work of county councils and their employees. According to the law, "no employee shall be a candidate for or hold any other public office or trust, nor shall he be a member of any political committee, nor shall he serve as an election official." The law requires the State Director "to adopt a merit system of personnel management in conformity with federal legislation and promulgate in connection therewith a classification and compensation plan."

WEST VIRGINIA STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

C. E. A. Winslow has stated that, "Public Health is the science and the art of preventing disease, prolonging life, and promoting physical health and efficiency through organized community efforts for the sanitation of the environment, the control of community infections, the education of the individual in principles of personal hygiene, the organization of medical and nursing services for the early diagnosis and preventive treatment of disease, and the development of the social machinery which will insure to every individual a standard of living adequate for the maintenance of health, organizing these benefits in such fashion as to enable every citizen to realize his birthright of health and longevity."

The State Department of Health now consists of sixteen bureaus and divisions and works in cooperation with all local health departments. Shortage of funds and inadequate personnel have seriously hampered a successful public health program, although the department has recently attracted several individuals with public health training and experience. Scholarships at approved schools of public health are available for additional training of personnel. Also a Public Health Training Center is maintained at Morgantown in conjunction with the Monongalia County Health Department. At present, this training center is understaffed, but it is hoped that vacancies there will shortly be filled and training courses for physicians, nurses and clerks can again be offered.

The Division of Cancer Control was established July 1, 1944, on the basis of the Cancer Control law passed by the 1943 West Virginia Legislature. This division carries out a four-point program: (1) education, by lay and professional; (2) aid in the establishment of tumor clinics; (3) teaches diagnosis for needy patients; and (4) financial assistance for treatment of needy cancer patients on the basis of a good prognosis. Applications for treatment average fifty patients per month.

The Division of Vital Statistics has charge of the registration of births, deaths, stillbirths and marriages, and supervises the enforcement of vital statistics laws. The ten leading causes of deaths in West Virginia for 1946 were:

Cause of Death	No. of Deaths
Diseases of the Heart	4,000
Cancer	1,735
Cerebral Hemorrhage	1,487
Accidents (Except Motor Vehicle)	1,117
Nephritis	928
Pneumonia and Influenza	918
Tuberculosis	708
Premature Births	697
Motor Vehicle Accidents	387
Diabetes	309

The Division of Sanitary Engineering coordinates and promotes the diversified activities of county and district sanitarians. It is active in the installation and control of public water supplies, sewage, milk and sanitation policies; in the review and approval of plans of sanitation projects; the licensing of water plant operations. The lack of trained personnel has greatly limited these activities. Sanitarians from the training center are conducting courses for food handlers throughout the State.

The control of communicable diseases is basic in all public health work. The goal of the Division of Communicable Disease Control is to reduce to a minimum the incidence of communicable diseases in the State of West Virginia by greater educational and immunization programs. To control such diseases it is essential that their presence be known. This division endeavors to encourage better and more complete reporting of communicable diseases.

The objects of the Division of Maternal and Child Hygiene are to raise and maintain health of West Virginia mothers and children. To attain these objectives the division is organizing well-child conferences and pre-natal clinics throughout the State. Plans are being made for the establishment of a premature center to help lower one of the highest causes of infant mortality. Other activities include nutrition consultant services, licensing of midwives and the preparation of a motherhood correspondence course.

The primary function of the Division of Barbers and Beauticians is the administration of the law governing the practice of barbering and beauty culture in West Virginia, the examination and registration of barbers and beauticians who are required to submit to an annual physical examination and blood test, and the systematic inspection of all barber and beauty shops at least six times each year.

The State Hygienic Laboratory offers, to the practicing physicians of the State, laboratory products and highly specialized laboratory service for accurate diagnosis, prevention and treatment of disease. The quantity and quality of work performed has far outgrown the antiquated buildings and staff.

The Bureau of County Health Work is attempting to organize the State so that full-time health services are available to all its citizens. On the recommendations made by Haven Emerson, M. D., in a report, "Local Health Units for the Nation," it is planned to provide such full-time service through twenty-two health units. While some sections of the State have already followed this plan, many areas remain with no organized health programs.

The Bureau of Public Health Nursing made its first expansion of service in six years when it organized nursing service for Ritchie County. The major problem is the finding of qualified nurses. The possibilities for expansion are encouraging as eligible nurses are becoming more aware of the advantages of a public health career.

The Bureau of Industrial Hygiene attempts to control health hazards in our mines and factories. The protection of the health of the worker would undoubtedly improve the welfare of the community.

The Bureau of Tuberculosis Control has been active during the past year in establishing chest diagnostic clinics jointly with the West Virginia Tuberculosis and Health Association. In addition, the program of mass chest surveys has been continued, and the first mass community X-ray survey in the State was carried out. A more complete reporting of tuberculosis morbidity has also been instigated. The Bureau administers the State Fund for the tuberculous needy, which provides free sanitarium care for the indigent.

The Bureau of Dental Hygiene has a mobile dental clinic complete with X-ray. This unit will be available for visits to schools and state institutions. At the present time there are several dental clinics in operation with others suggested.

The Bureau of Venereal Disease Control has as its primary objective the reduction of the incidence of venereal disease in the population. Also, the program attempts to reduce the number of persons suffering from the various complications of the venereal diseases.

The Bureau of Public Health Education is active in providing newspaper articles, special magazine stories, planning and conducting exhibits at state and local meetings, and planning and conducting state and district meetings. Unfortunately, lack of adequate budgets has kept the personnel of this bureau at a minimum.

The aim of the Bureau of Hospitals and Medical Care is to make a study of the hospital facilities of the State, so that future expansion may be on a sound basis, and federal funds for this growth may be obtained under the terms of the Hill-Burton Act.

This act will make available up to $1,500,000 annually in West Virginia. State and local governments or non-profit associations must match this with $3,000,000, so that the annual amount to be expended is potentially $4,500,000.

A Bureau of Mental Hygiene has just been formed, having as its director a qualified psychiatrist. This is a significant advance and answers a long standing need in our public health program.

It is the desire of the State Department of Health, through its various bureaus and divisions, to provide for the citizens of West Virginia all the public health service made possible by progress of scientific and sociologic knowledge.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

An outstanding law enforcement group, the West Virginia State Police has a force of approximately 200 professional policemen. Thirty new men were selected and trained in the summer of 1947, and the department is now up to the full strength permitted by the appropriation.

West Virginia is justifiably proud of the State Police. The troopers, clad in forest green uniforms, perform a large share of the law enforcement in West Virginia. Among their duties are the investigation of serious crime, apprehension of dangerous criminals, protection of life and property, and control of the flow of traffic on West Virginia highways.

The department was created in 1919 to cope with conditions following the first World War and was a pioneer among such departments in the nation. Our State Police pattern and traditions of law enforcement over a period of years have been widely copied in other states.

The department has kept step with progress. Modern police methods are utilized at all times. The effectiveness of the state police lies in extreme mobility, with a fleet of well-equipped patrol cars, and a modern network of radio communications. State Policemen can move quickly to apprehend dangerous criminals or to reach the scene of disaster or riot when their services are needed to protect life and property.

In Charleston the department maintains an Identification Bureau and Technical Laboratory for scientific examination of evidence. These are extremely helpful to state police scattered throughout the 55 counties, as well as to city, county and other state law enforcement officers.

The success and prestige of the state police are largely attributed to the high standard set for all recruits and to the exceptional training given every officer.

The recruit class of 30 men which entered the department in 1947 was selected from approximately 2,100 applicants.

Entrance requirements are high. Eligible applicants must be between 21 and 30 years of age, high school graduates, at least five feet and nine inches tall and weighing not less than 155 pounds, in good physical condition, and of good moral character. The best qualified men are selected by a series of adaptability, intelligence and physical tests.

The process of selection goes on even after enlistment, since all recruits do not measure up, and those failing are dismissed. A three-months session in a training school comes first. There the recruits learn military drill, self-defense, criminal law, first aid, investigation, care and use of firearms, technique of arrest, identification and other things a professional policeman must know. Throughout the first year the new trooper is on probation. After he graduates from training school he is teamed with an experienced member in order to gain the professional experience which will make him a valued officer of the law. He must measure up to the standards of men whose work involves long hours, arduous duty, initiative and the courage to battle armed criminals.

The new trooper is not eligible for promotion until he has had two years of service. After that his advancement is dependent upon merit as demonstrated by performance of duty, adherence to discipline, the respect which he commands, and his achievements in the apprehension of criminals and the investigation and prevention of crime and motor vehicle accidents, protection of life and property, and his qualities of leadership. The posts of higher responsibilities in the West Virginia State Police are held by veteran officers who have come up through the ranks by years of aggressive and faithful service of the highest order.

Besides their broad functions of law enforcement, the state police perform a host of minor services to benefit the citizen. They are a powerful force for crime prevention as they escort payrolls, attend large public gatherings, and mobilize at the scene of floods, fires or other disasters to discourage looting. The trooper on highway patrol is a powerful deterrent against the automobile thief, the criminal who transports his loot by automobile, and the irresponsible drunken and reckless drivers. The troopers examine all applicants for driver's license and school bus driver's license, inspect school buses and carry on a number of activities related to greater safety on the highway. The state police assist and cooperate with all agencies of government, working with city and county officers, game wardens, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and others in the interest of law and order.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

CABELL S. DAVIS, Director

Background

The West Virginia Department of Unemployment Compensation was established on January 1, 1937, as the result of an Act passed by the Second Extraordinary Session of the Legislature in 1936. The Department was established in order that the State might be in conformity with the Social Security Act which was passed in 1935. Since 1937, contributions have been collected from all employers in the State of eight or more workers. These contributions make up the Unemployment Compensation Fund from which insurance benefits are paid to the unemployed. Benefits have been paid since 1938. The Law was extensively amended by the 1937 session of the Legislature, and has been amended by each session of the Legislature since. West Virginia now has a Law which compares favorably with any Law in the country with respect to liberality of its benefit provisions. At the same time the Law has been liberalized, safeguards have been included designed to protect the Unemployment Compensation Fund. The Fund, in accordance with the Social Security Act, is deposited with the Federal Government and requisitioned as necessary. Interest on the Trust Fund has exceeded $7,400,000.

The Unemployment Compensation Law provides that the Director shall establish an Unemployment Compensation Division, an Employment Service Division, and such other administrative divisions as may be necessary.

Unemployment Compensation Division

The Unemployment Compensation Division, under the direction of a Chief of Unemployment Compensation, collects contributions from employers, supervises taking of claims, payment of benefits, charges of benefits to employers, conducting post-audit and investigation of erroneous benefits, and in general, exercises supervision of all unemployment insurance functions.

West Virginia State Employment Service

The West Virginia State Employment Service, which is affiliated with the United States Employment Service of the Federal Department of Labor, is charged with the responsibility of obtaining orders for workers from employers and filling such orders with individuals best qualified to perform the required work.

Beginning January 1942, and continuing during the rest of the war, the Employment Service Division was taken over by the Federal Government. During the war years it was a division of the War Manpower Commission. When the War Manpower Commission was discontinued, the United States Employment Service was transferred to the Federal Department of Labor and controlled public Employment Services in all states. Effective November 16, 1946, the Employment Services were returned to the states by Congress.

Veterans' Employment Service

The Veterans' Employment Service, which was created by the Federal Wagner-Peyser Act in 1933, is now a division of the United States Employment Service, and occupies office space provided by the Department of Unemployment Compensation. The VES is functionally responsible for the registration and placement of veterans through local employment offices, maintains regular contacts with employers and veterans' organizations with a view to keeping employers advised of veterans available for employment, and veterans advised of opportunities for employment.

Other Administrative Units

In order to provide for the necessary legal, fiscal, and other administrative functions of the Department, the Director of Unemployment Compensation has established a Legal Division, a Business Management Division, a Personnel Division, a Research and Statistics Division, and a Management Standards Division.

Readjustment Allowances

In cooperation with and under the direction of the Veterans' Administration, the Department of Unemployment Compensation accepts claims for and pays readjustment allowances to veterans of World War II in accordance with Title V of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, as amended. Readjustment allowances are paid to both unemployed and self-employed veterans. The readjustment allowance is similar to the State's own unemployment compensation benefit, and many of the procedures and standards are common to both. Self-employment allowances are paid to self-employed veterans endeavoring to start a farm or business whose net earnings in a month are less than $100.00.

Funds for payment of readjustment allowances are furnished by the Veterans' Administration through the Federal Treasury. The Veterans' Administration also provides necessary administrative funds for efficient administration of the program.

Reconversion Benefits for Seamen

In accordance with Title XIII of the Federal Social Security Act, the Department accepts and pays claims of former employees of the War Shipping Administration. Title XIII of the Social Security Act became effective on July 8, 1947. Funds for payment of benefits and for administration are furnished by the Social Security Administration.

Board of Review

The Unemployment Compensation Act provides for a three-member Board of Review. The members of the Board are appointed by the Governor. The chief function of the Board is to provide for and hold appeals of claimants, employers, and other interested parties who do not agree with the Department's findings concerning claims. The Board of Review has its own offices and its own separate employees. The Board, through its Appeals Tribunal, also conducts hearings and renders decisions concerning veterans' readjustment allowance claims.

Personnel

The employees of the Department are covered by the West Virginia Merit System. All employees are hired, promoted, demoted, terminated, and paid in accordance with Merit System rules and regulations.

VETERANS EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

(United States Employment Service)

Although the Veterans Employment Service was established many years ago, it obtained its full recognition with the enactment of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, commonly known as the G. I. Bill of Rights. Title IV of that law provided for the establishment of a Veterans' Placement Service Board, consisting of the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs as Chairman, the National Director of Selective Service Records, and the Secretary of Labor as members.

The Board has direct authority and the responsibility for carrying out its policies through the Veterans Employment Representatives and members of their staff in the forty-eight states, District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. The Board delegated such authority to an Executive Secretary and Chief of the Veterans Employment Service.

The State Veterans Employment Representative and his staff have a prescribed functional relationship with the West Virginia State Employment Service and the local offices throughout the State which comprise that Service. Within each of these local offices, a state employee has been designated as local veterans employment representative. The local Veterans Employment Representative is responsible not only for the advice and counsel of the veterans who need assistance, but also for the coordination of the services of the local office to veterans. Operating within the framework of the United States Employment Service, the Veterans Employment Service has the benefit of the staff and facilities of that Agency and also the West Virginia State Employment Service. The development of programs for providing counseling and placement services to veterans in accordance with established policies is the joint responsibility of the Director of the State Employment Service and the State Veterans Employment Representative.

The Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 specifies that the State Veterans Employment Representative shall:

- (a) Be functionally responsible for the supervision of registration and placement of veterans in local employment offices.
- (b) Visit employers (both public and private) for the purpose of interesting them in the employment of veterans.
- (c) Promote the interest of employers in employing veterans by the establishment of personnel practices and policies beneficial to veterans.
- (d) Maintain regular contact with employers and veterans' organizations so as to keep them informed regarding the employment of veterans, and
- (e) Assure veterans of the availability of jobs and maximum employment opportunities.

One Assistant Veterans Employment Representative is assigned state-wide in the primary interest of giving special recognition to the great number of problems presented by disabled and handicapped veterans. In addition to these duties he visits employers and local employment offices for the purpose of developing new jobs for all veterans, including the disabled.

Another Assistant, with headquarters in Wheeling, is assigned to the following counties: Barbour, Berkeley, Braxton, Brooke, Calhoun, Doddridge, Gilmer, Grant, Hampshire, Hancock, Hardy, Harrison, Jackson, Jefferson, Lewis, Marion, Marshall, Mineral, Monongalia, Morgan, Ohio, Pendleton, Preston, Pleasants, Randolph, Ritchie, Roane, Taylor, Tucker, Tyler, Upshur, Wetzel, Wirt, and Wood.

Another Assistant, with headquarters in Charleston, is assigned to the remaining counties, consisting of Boone, Cabell, Clay, Fayette, Greenbrier, Kanawha, Lincoln, Logan, Mason, Mercer, Mingo, Monroe, McDowell, Nicholas, Pocahontas, Putnam, Raleigh, Summers, Wayne, Webster, and Wyoming.

Employers are contacted by staff representatives of the Veterans Employment Service for the purpose of developing job opportunities for veterans. These representatives work in close cooperation with the field offices of the State Employment Service and maintain a close relationship with all civic, labor, and veterans' organizations, and employers.

WEST VIRGINIA WATER COMMISSION

By KENNETH S. WATSON, Chemical Engineer, State Water Commission

A Reorganized Agency Completes First Year's Work

Increased production to meet the war emergency accentuated stream pollution in West Virginia, and clearly pointed out the fact that a more progressive and aggressive program of pollution control would be necessary with the end of hostilities. Anticipating the need for the early inauguration of such a program, the 1945 session of the West Virginia Legislature passed an act to improve the State Water Commission, an agency created in 1929, to prosecute a program of stream-pollution control.

The Water Commission was inactive during the war, since its personnel had been lost to the Armed Forces. Returned veterans became available early in December 1945, and a revitalized program of stream improvement was launched. The Water Commission Act provides authority for holding hearings, issuing orders, and prosecuting offenders; but the five-member Commission has elected to use a cooperative approach and employ legal action as a final resort. In the state-wide program to protect and improve the natural, surface-water resources, the following major projects have now been underway for eighteen months:

1. Classification of every mile of every major stream in the State into one of four water-quality zones.
2. A cooperative program of improving industrial stream pollution to an acceptable degree by the installation of waste recovery and treatment units.
3. A program, in cooperation with the Division of Sanitary Engineering, of educating and encouraging the municipalities of the State to undertake planning toward sewage treatment.

Accomplishments and Work in Progress

The project of actually defining and locating stream areas that are badly polluted is now 35 per cent completed. This is true, because the streams in the Kanawha Basin, which constitute 35 per cent of West Virginia's surface area, have been zoned. This zoning has been done to indicate to industry and municipality the areas of serious contamination, as a background for remedial work on the parts of the offenders. A copy of this zoning report can be obtained by writing to the Commission.

The field work for the zoning of the streams in the Potomac, Little Kanawha, Sandy and Guyandot Rivers will be completed during the summer of 1947. The zoning reports covering these basins will probably be available to the pertinent industries and municipalities before the end of the fiscal year.

As a result of the program being carried out cooperatively with the Division of Sanitary Engineering of visiting and encouraging the municipalities of the State to undertake planning toward sewage treatment, 54 per cent of the sewered population is now in the planning stage. This is an encouraging figure when the fact is considered that only 10.3 per cent of the State's sewered population now has treatment. All the major cities in the State, as well as many towns, are included in the population planning treatment. Clarksburg is leading in the race toward sewage treatment, since planning there has already been completed.

Charleston is making progress, with the planning phase about 75 per cent completed.

In the industrial field, the Commission has published an industrial waste guide to aid the approximately 170 commercial slaughterers in the State to solve their stream-pollution problem. All the major industries in the State have been requested to set up laboratories to define their wastes by determining their quantities and pollution characteristics. When this definition has been completed, a particular plant will then be in position to undertake a step-by-step correction of the pollution. Twenty-four industries already have pollution laboratories in operation, and other plants are planning in this direction. Plants in the Kanawha Basin are leading in the pollution-control field, since this basin was given first priority in the Commission's program. A number of plants in this basin have practically completed their waste definition surveys, and some of them are planning costly treatment units. All the tanneries and by-product coke plants in the State have been operating waste treatment facilities for a number of years.

Public Support

Water is of ever increasing importance in mankind's individual, industrial and community enterprises. The destruction of the natural, surface-water resources of West Virginia, which has been taking place for a number of years and was accentuated by the war, must be stopped, if our cities and industries are to continue to grow and prosper. It is also of tremendous importance to West Virginia, where all the natural resources for a great tourist land abound, for the streams to be kept in such condition that these profitable potentialities can be fully developed.

A beginning has been made by the Water Commission toward arresting the trend of destruction in West Virginia streams and inaugurating a trend of improvement. A long-range, cooperative program of stream improvement has been underway for eighteen months; but the wholehearted support of municipalities, industries, and private citizens is necessary, if this program is to show maximum accomplishments.

WEST VIRGINIA LIBRARIES

PUBLIC LIBRARIES

The West Virginia Library Commission is the state agency concerned chiefly with the development of public libraries in West Virginia. A brief summary of Commission activities in 1947 is therefore in order; and so is a brief summary of progress made by the various public libraries of the State. Inquiries for information relating to the functions of other library agencies of the State are referred by the Commission to the respective agencies.

The Library Commission is composed of five members who are the policy-making group for the agency. It is non-partisan and non-paid. The Executive Secretary is the administrator, subject to the policies formulated by the Commission, and responsible for the execution of such policies.

Commission members held three meetings in 1947. Although West Virginia has advanced in public library development, its low national ranking is still a chief concern of the men and women on the Commission. Concentration of effort toward more field work has therefore been a main objective of the Commission. A slight increase in appropriation, granted by the 1947 Legislature, makes possible the addition of a fourth Commission staff member who is to be its first full-time field worker.

During 1947, as in years past, the Commission staff at headquarters in Morgantown directed its efforts toward encouragement of improved local libraries and toward temporarily bridging the gap for those people without access to a public library. Individuals in the latter group are permitted to borrow "Books by Mail" from the Commission. The only charge for this service is postage to and from Morgantown.

In 1947, the Commission staff answered reference questions and planned reading programs for groups and individuals. Requests indicated varied interests—books on basket making for use by a girl scout leader, books about municipal government for a Fairmont group studying local government problems, books on gardening for a woman in a study course, books for use in story hours, magazines for the study of current problems, mathematics books for a borrower from Knob Fork, books on child psychology and home management, books on old furniture, Mark Sullivan's Our Times, Toynbee's A Study of History, mystery stories, and many times just "something good to read." This service of the Commission has grown. In 1943, about 50 books per month were mailed out into the State; in 1947, the number has increased to some over 1,100 per month.

The Commission staff worked with the Farm Women's Council in 1947 in the preparation of a reading plan for farm women. It worked with the community health project of the Department of Education by providing two kits of materials for circulation from the Commission to these community groups.

In 1947, the staff prepared exhibits, taught classes, made talks, reviewed books, or attended meetings of or for the following groups: State Planning Board, West Virginia Library Association, State and Local AAUW groups, Rural Youth, Farm and Home Week, Older Girls 4-H Camp, Farm Women's Camp, Delta Kappa Gamma, Student Faculty Forum of West Virginia University, State Dairymen's meeting. It wrote letters to 4-H leaders throughout the State and to playground supervisors in Logan and Mingo Counties inviting these groups to borrow books from the Commission.

Its staff gave professional advice to libraries in such matters as proper lighting, plans for remodeling, insuring book collections, planning bookmobiles, collecting statistics, getting library boards appointed, buying shelving, working out job analyses or salary schedules, and publicity ideas.

Its Executive Secretary worked with representatives from fifteen counties in planning library service best suited to each county's specific needs.

Public libraries, too, made remarkable headway in 1946 and 1947. New libraries were started in New Martinsville and Paden City. Each is supported by gifts from local industries for the initiation of the service. In 1946, Wheeling acquired a record collection, and a music room was equipped for listening. In October, 1946, Cabell County was given $5,000 for the purchase of a bookmobile. The benefactor, Mr. Switzer, also made provision for the Huntington Public Library in his will. This library also has a new record player and a movie projector.

In 1947, Monroe County made the first formal request to the West Virginia Library Commission for a county library demonstration. In June, a committee of interested citizens petitioned the County Court and County Board of Education to appoint a county library board in accordance with the 1945 Public Library Law. This was done at a joint meeting on July 7.

In 1947, plans were under way for expanding or new buildings in Charleston, Fairmont, and Moundsville. A radio "Great Books" program was conducted at 5:00 p. m., each Saturday by the Clarksburg Public Library. Radio Story hours have been or are being conducted by the libraries in Charleston, Clarksburg, Wheeling, Bluefield, Fairmont, and Huntington.

An amendment to the 1945 Public Library Law, introduced in the 1947 Legislature by Senator Harmer, encourages gifts and endowments to public libraries.

Voluntary education is important to the individual and to the State. To this principle, the Commission is particularly committed. Voluntary education, both good and bad types are present at an early age—long before the individual starts to school. Both types continue throughout life. Newsstands, radios, movies—these, too, have a part in the individual's voluntary education. Good public libraries make for good voluntary education. Developments in public libraries in West Virginia in 1947 indicated that they are recognized more and more as the community's guidance center; and even though a long road lies ahead, West Virginia is on its way toward more and better public library facilities.

UNIVERSITY AND COLLEGE LIBRARIES

The university and college libraries of the State have continued to progress in the face of greatly increased enrollments, shortages of materials and other post-war problems.

It is the primary purpose of these libraries to supply books and related materials for the instruction and research in the institutions which they serve. The West Virginia University Library also loans books to individuals and groups throughout the State through its Extension Service Department, and collections are deposited at various points to aid in the teaching of extension courses. The Audio-Visual Aids Department supplies motion-picture films and projectors for the use of groups in the State.

Important developments in the past year include a large expansion in the nursing collection at Alderson-Broaddus College; the compilation of a war service record entitled Shepherd Served, 1941-1945, by Stewart E. Arnold, Librarian of Shepherd College, and the beginning of a project to microfilm complete files of West Virginia newspapers at West Virginia University Library.

Several important gifts were received during the year. Alderson-Broaddus College received interesting Civil War material from the Rev. Shirley Donnelly of Oak Hill, and Baptist historical items from the Baptist Historical Society of Chester, Pa. The University Library was the recipient of large donations from Dr. James M. Callahan, Carey Woofter, Enoch H. Vickers, and many other individuals and societies.

OUTLINE HISTORY OF THE WEST VIRGINIA NATIONAL GUARD

The modern Minute Man, who presently composes the West Virginia National Guard, is the proud inheritor of a fine military tradition that dates back to the organization of a Military Company in Western Virginia by Captain Morgan Morgan in 1735. This Company later became a part of the 1st Virginia Regiment of the British Colonial Militia.

Other companies were formed and served under the young Militia Officer, George Washington, in frequent clashes with the Indians along the western frontier. These troops were with Washington in 1755, and covered the retreat of Braddeck after the disaster at Fort Duquesne. They constituted the garrisons of the frontier forts, and the stories of their valor and sacrifices are known to all. In 1758, again under Washington, they formed a part of the 4,800 provincials that constituted the advance guard of the Scotch Highlanders who captured Fort Duquesne. During this period over seventy-five forts were constructed, of which one of the strongest was Fort Fincastle, later Fort Henry, at Wheeling. These forts were defended by the stalwart Militia Companies of the region.

With the start of the Revolutionary War, two companies from the Western Counties were recruited, and were among the first Scuthern troops to report to General Washington at Boston. The march of 600 miles was made in twenty-six days under Captain Stephenson. One of these was organized at Winchester by Daniel Morgan, afterwards a Major General. Both Companies became part of the 1st Virginia Regiment, American Continental troops. These troops saw long hard service in the struggle for independence, and were among Washington's few dependable formations.

The fighting along the Western frontier was continuous throughout the Revolutionary period, and the citizen soldiers of the Western Counties held their homes against serious odds and indeed carried the war to the enemy in far-flung Pittsburgh and Detroit. They served under George Rogers Clark, and, from their ranks, were produced many Revolutionary leaders: Generals Horatio Gates, Charles Lee, Adam Stephens, and William Dark, to name only a few.

In 1792, the old 1st Virginia Regiment was designated the 67th Virginia Regiment. In 1794, those troops were with Lewis in the bloody battle of Point Pleasant, in which Chief Cornstalk was defeated with heavy casualties.

In the War of 1812 fifty-two Companies from the Western Counties served their country in the field from the Canada to the Gulf, and at critical points throughout the East. It was Faulknerns Artillery Company of the 67th, by their valiant defense of the hastily erected works on Craney Island, that turned back the British in their attempt to seize Norfolk.

The Mexican War, that proved to be the training ground for the leaders of the War Between the States, again found the Mountain Men in the vanguard. More volunteered than could be used. Two companies of the 67th were incorporated in the 1st Virginia and quickly joined Scott in Mexico. Other detachments were furnished in the 11th and 13th United States Infantry Regiments and served in the victorious Army of General Zachary Taylor.

Lt. Thomas J. Jackson of Lewis County, later to become famous as General "Stonewall" Jackson, one of the great tactical leaders of history, and Lt. Jesse Lee Reno, of Wheeling, served with distinction in Mexico and established reputations that were later to be enhanced by their accomplishments in the great Civil War.

The Civil War saw the organization and admittance of West Virginia as a State of the Union. Due to its location on the border between the North and the South, it was the scene of many bitter disagreements, its citizens following their conviction on the merits of the controversy that was rapidly leading to armed conflict. Brothers were on opposite sides, fathers arrayed against sons, families torn asunder, and all of the heartaches and bitterness that accompanies internecine war was visible throughout the regions.

The opening battle of the Civil War was fought at Philippi by a newly recruited Southern force from the vicinity of Grafton and a provisional regiment from Wheeling, under the command of Colonel Benjamin F. Kelley. The Southern force was attacked at dawn and routed. General Garnett with four thousand men defended Laurel Hill and Rich Mountain; he was attacked by McClellan with a much stronger Union force and defeated. McClellan pursued, and Garnett was killed at Corricks Ford in Tucker County. The Southern force was destroyed.

The region between the Alleghenies and the Ohio was the scene of many strong raids and much destruction. The Eastern Panhandle was fought over by both sides throughout the War. The Town of Romney changed hands fifty-six times. Harpers Ferry was captured by "Stonewall" Jackson with its garrison of 12,000 men.

Many famous confederate leaders led their troops into the western mountains; William B. Jones; J. D. Imboden, the famous cavalry commander; Sam Jones; Jubal Early; McCausland; and many others, including the Guerrillas Mosby and McNeill. Those raids never reached the proportions of a full scale invasion but they resulted in much hard fighting with its accompanying casualties and the destruction of property to the amount of many millions. A total of over 200 battles were fought in the region that now constitutes the State of West Virginia. Among the Union Commanders were McClellan; Rosecrans; Averell; and, late in the War, Philip Sheridan.

The 67th Virginia Regiment was divided in its loyalties. Company B was first in the Virginia Volunteers and was later transferred to the 3rd Maryland Regiment of the Union Army and fought in it throughout the War. It was present at many of the famous battles of the War, including Cedar Mountain; Antietam; Winchester; Fredericksburg; Chancellorsville, and Gettysburg. Company C became part of the famous 3rd West Virginia Cavalry, one of the outstanding Union Cavalry Regiments, and was in the thick of the fighting at Winchester, Hagerstown, Moorefield, Front Royal, and many other points.

Five companies of the 67th joined the Confederacy. One served with Jackson in the famous "Stonewall" Brigade. Two served in the 2nd Virginia Light Infantry, one of many famous Virginia Regiments. One joined the 1st Virginia Cavalry whose sometime commanders were Fitzhugh Lee and J. E. B. Stuart. The remaining company was assigned to the 7th Virginia Cavalry.

The 5th and 9th Infantry Regiments were consolidated into the 9th Veteran Volunteer Regiment in 1864; the 9th served for three years with the Northern Armies. In 1861, 12,157 men entered the Union Service to fill a quota of only 8,497. Over 30,000 Western Virginians served in the Northern Armies.

In the South, Confederate Regiments were formed from the Militia and Volunteers with some organizations joining the Union Forces. Western Virginians were recruited to form the 4th, 7th, 16th, 17th, 22nd, 23rd, 25th, 26th, 27th, 31st, 36th, 59th, 60th, and 62nd Virginia Infantry Regiments and the 17th and 19th Cavalry Regiments. The men in the Eastern Panhandle served in many units, the greater majority selecting the famous Laurel Brigade. It is estimated that over 10,000 served in the Southern cause.

In 1868, the 67th Regiment was again authorized in Berkeley County. In 1878, new legislation authorized the formation of the 1st West Virginia Infantry in the area of the old 67th Regiment, and the 2nd Regiment in the South in the region of many separate companies that, like their comrades of the 69th, traced their history to the colonial wars.

The Spanish American War, which opened with the sinking of the Maine in Havana Harbor on 15 February 1898, resulted in the mobilization of the 1st and 2nd Infantry Regiments, which were consolidated to form the 1st West Virginia Volunteer Infantry Regiment under the command of Colonel B. D. Spillman.

Later the 2nd Volunteer Regiment and four separate companies were organized. Many West Virginians served with the regular forces and the Navy. Again many more volunteers came forward than were required. Over 4,000 West Virginians served with the colors.

In 1899, the First and Second Regiments were reconstituted to carry on the fine military traditions of the State.

The 2nd West Virginia Infantry was mobilized in 1916 for service in the Mexican Border Campaign. It entrained on the 17-18 of October 1916, for Camp Wilson, San Antonio, Texas, where they arrived on the 21st of the same month. On the 24th of March, 1917, after months of arduous training as part of the First Brigade of the Twelfth Division the "Border Campaign" ended and the 2nd Infantry returned to its home station and was mustered out of the Federal Service.

At the start of the First World War the 2nd Regiment was again assembled in Charleston between 4th and 6th of April, and was in camp at the time that a state of war with Germany was declared on the 6th of April 1917. On April 10th it was again mustered into the Federal Service for duty in the first world-wide war for world freedom.

It performed security missions in the important Kanawha Valley area until September, when it entrained for Camp Shelby, Mississippi, where it assembled with troops from Kentucky and Indiana to form the 38th Division.

On September 19th the 2nd West Virginia Regiment was redesignated the 150th Infantry of the 38th Division, retaining this number throughout the war. One year later the 150th Infantry entrained for the East Coast and sailed for the Western European Theater on October 2nd. It arrived in Le Havre on October 22, 1918, and moved to reserve positions in the vicinity of Chatillon-Sur-Seine. Later it was transferred to Le Mans where it was stationed at the time of the Armistice.

The 38th Division was skeletonized shortly after the Armistice and its personnel scattered as replacements throughout the A. E. F. The remaining Cadre was returned to the States in December 1918, and the 150th Infantry was mustered out of the Federal Service on the 5th of January 1919. Many of its former members served in the Army of Occupation for many months.

The 1st West Virginia Infantry was mobilized at Fairmont, on March 28, 1917, for service in the First World War, and became part of the National Fighting Forces on the 5th of August 1917. Later it was transferred to Camp Shelby, Mississippi, where its personnel were assigned to various units of the 38th Division including 113th Engineers, 137th Machine Gun Battalion, 113th Ammunition Train and the 150th Infantry.

While the First Regiment did not serve as a unit, its many members performed their assigned duties in the true spirit of one of the oldest military organizations in the country.

The Motor Battalion of the 113th Ammunition Train, composed largely of officers and men of Companies "G" and "H", were retained in the A. E. F. for six months after the 38th Division returned home. It was considered one of the most efficient motor units in the A. E. F.

Many former officers and soldiers of the West Virginia Regiments were transferred to other formations; many enlisted men were selected for training at the Officers Training Camps and upon graduation were assigned throughout the Army. Of the 1,120 West Virginians that fell on foreign soil many were former members of the West Virginia National Guard.

Following the First World War the Nation carefully studied its military establishment and the basic National Defense Act was amended in 1920. Again it turned to its citizen soldiers to fill the gap between the small Regular Army and the great mass of available manpower.

In 1921, the 150th Infantry was again activated as part of the West Virginia National Guard. In 1923, the old First West Virginia Infantry was reorganized, and, in 1926, it was redesignated the 201st.

The years between the two World Wars saw many officers and soldiers come and go in the ranks of these historical regiments. Armory training, rifle practice, recruit training, summer camps and schools followed throughout the years. When a member fell out another stepped into his place, year followed year, and, when the Second World War for human freedom blazed into action, the 150th and 201st Regiments were ready to carry on the traditions of their forebears.

At the close of the First World War, Marshal Foch, the Allied Commander-in-Chief, said: "This is not the end of the war, it is an armistice, it will last for twenty years." Twenty years later the German Wermacht marched into Poland, after many violations of international agreements, and the world was plunged into the greatest war in all history, a war on which the sun never set until the sinister forces of the Axis powers were destroyed one by one.

At the call of the President, in December 1940, nearly a year before the cowardly attack of the Japanese at Pearl Harbor, the 150th and 201st West Virginia Regiments were mobilized for a year of intensive training in anticipation of the probable involvement of our country in the conflict that raged throughout Europe and Northern Africa.

The 150th Infantry, as a part of the 38th Division, detrained at Camp Shelby, Mississippi, lated in January 1941, and started an intensive program of training. During August and September, after months of hard work, the 38th Division participated in the 3rd Army maneuvers in Louisiana. The 150th Regiment performed in a highly creditable manner.

Upon completion of the maneuvers the 150th returned to its home station at Camp Shelby and in November was alerted for overseas. During nearly a year of training, many changes were made in the assignment of personnel of all ranks. Officers had been promoted and many had transferred to other formations. The regiment had furnished nearly one hundred officer candidates. These selected individuals were assigned to units throughout the Army and were serving in every theater of operations.

Fifteen days after the Japanese sneak attack at Pearl Harbor the Powder Horn Regiment was enroute to Panama to defend the vital life line of the Nation. It was the first Infantry Regiment to leave the country in the war that eventually found our troops deployed in every hemisphere.

During twenty-eight months that the 150th Infantry spent in foreign service it was assigned to many difficult and important tasks throughout the Canal Zone and the Republic of Panama. Detachments of this well trained regiment covered a widespread area, providing security for essential installations at Talara, Peru; Salinas, Ecuador; the Galapagos Islands, and Guatemala City, Guatemala.

On 31 January 1946, long after the last shot in the war had been fired and many Divisions of our Army had been demobilized, the 150th Infantry Regiment was deactivated. Its colors were forwarded to the War Department, there to await its reactivation which was bound to follow.

On October 1, 1946, the 150th Infantry Regiment was again activated as a part of the new National Guard. Once more this proud regiment takes its place in the fighting forces of our country, to carry on the traditions established by stalwart mountain men for over two hundred years.

The 201st Infantry Regiment assembled at its home station and proceeded to Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, in January 1941, for one year of intensive training. At this station the 3rd Battalion was activated by personnel assigned from replacements.

On 1 August 1941, the 201st was transferred to Fort Lewis, Washington, where it continued training and prepared for movement overseas. Many individuals were transferred and promoted, and a large number of selected enlisted men were sent to Officers Training Camps.

By 20 September this Regiment, less 2nd Battalion, had arrived in Alaska to provide security for this exposed outpost. The 2nd Battalion rejoined the Regiment there in February 1942. The troops of the 201st were deployed throughout Alaskan Territory with Headquarters of the 3rd Battalion at Sitka and the Regimental Headquarters, Special Units, and 1st Battalion at Kodiak. The 2nd Battalion Headquarters, upon arrival, was also based at Kodiak. Later 3rd Battalion staged at Kodiak, then went to Amchitka in the late fall of 1942. The 1st Battalion moved to Adak and late in 1942 also went to Amchitka.

The rigors of this far North climate took its toll of men and spirit, but this well trained Regiment performed its mission in the true tradition of the Mountaineer Soldier.

In the spring of 1944, its task completed, the Regiment was returned to the homeland and station at Camp Carson, Colorado. In September it moved to Camp Jackson, S. C. Early in 1945, the 201st was transferred once more, this time to Camp Rucker, Alabama, where it served as a training regiment for replacements.

Our enemies were defeated in the summer of 1945. The war was over. The 201st was deactivated at Camp Rucker in the late fall, 1945.

On August 19, 1947, the 201st, now a 155mm Howitzer Field Artillery Battalion, was activated in the Northeastern part of the State. This is no new role for this oldest of American Military Organizations. Its Artillery Companies served with Jackson in the Valley Campaign.

Once again the Mountain Men are answering the call to arms in the new National Guard which, while new in every sense of the word, is still in the tradition of Morgan Morgan and his citizen soldiers.

The West Virginia National Guard, when completely organized, will be a complete and well rounded force capable of sustained action over a long period of time. It will have, and in fact now has, modern equipment of the latest types. It will have a total strength of 5,908 of all ranks, consisting of: a State Headquarters; a full Infantry Regiment; two Battalions of Field Artillery, one of 105mm and one of 155mm caliber; a Battalion of Tanks; a Battalion and separate company of Combat Engineers; an Ordnance Maintenance Company and a Transportation Truck Battalion.

The Air National Guard consists of a powerful fighter squadron of 28 Combat planes located at Charleston. It is largely self-supporting and provides a hard hitting, modern, military force ready to answer the Nation's call in the hour of need. Its units are of the 167th Fighter Squadron.

The new West Virginia National Guard units are located throughout the State, providing a mobile force instantly available in case of disaster, and ever ready to "Protect the peace of these sun-swept hills."

DEPARTMENT OF PROBATION AND PAROLE

The Department of Probation and Parole was established by an act of the West Virginia Legislature in 1939. The act initiated a new concept of penology and the treatment of adult criminals by adopting new standards and procedure in case work and designating the machinery necessary for the operation of the department. The act provided that a director of probation and parole should administer the department, aided by qualified probation and parole field officers, and by the necessary office assistants. Provision was made that the director should be appointed by the Governor and subject to ratification by the State Senate. The new department absorbed the duties of the pardon attorney and the old parole board.

By a further act the legislature amended the criminal code and making mandatory the imposition of indeterminate prison sentences for the majority of crimes. Heretofore, sentences had been either definite or indefinite, and allowing of wide discretion in the imposition of sentence by the individual judges. Under the new law punishment to be meted out in most crime classifications was standardized, and a yardstick established giving the Department of Probation and Parole wide latitude in determining the propriety of granting parole.

Parole administration in the State, formerly superficial and haphazard, both as to investigation and supervision, was ushered into a new era. Standards were inaugurated involving the careful screening and selection of candidates for parole and the adequate supervision of those placed on parole. These standards embodied the best features of the parole criteria of the federal government and other states.

Parole is an executive function administered by the Director of Probation and Parole under the Chief Executive of the State. It is a long range program designed to extend relief to the offender after he has been sentenced, either to a county jail, or to the penitentiary, and has been incarcerated therein for a period of time. Upon becoming eligible, he may make application for parole through established regular channels. No advertisement is necessary in any newspaper. After thorough investigation and careful deliberation of the case and it is considered that the applicant has met in full the desired standards of selection, the Director may grant parole with the approval of the Governor, and the inmate is released from the custody of the penal institution. Suitable residence and employment must be available, the parolee is required to be a law-abiding person, to maintain an approved level of social conduct in the community, and to meet certain other conditions relating to health, morals, and general demeanor.

Probation is a judicial function, and is a prerogative exercised solely by the judges of courts of record. It represents a suspended sentence, wherein the offender is released from custody after meeting certain requirements. Relief is granted by the judge, and the offender returns to society thus avoiding incarceration in a penal institution. Much the same rules and regulations govern the required habits and associations of the probationer as govern the conduct of the parolee. The probationer is placed by the judge under the supervision of some person whose duty is to see to it that the offender conforms to a desired pattern of habit. In some counties the judge may avail himself of the services of court probation officers, paid by the counties. In others he may call upon the sheriff of the county to act as ex officio probation officer, while in others he may use the services of state probation and parole officers.

The authority of the director of probation and parole over adult probation matters throughout the State is nominal, being applied only in a general administrative and supervisory capacity. Some control is exercised through the department field officers, who in certain counties have assumed supervision of probationers at the request of the judges.

Only in 14 counties do the department field agents make the investigations and supervise probationers. In many of the other 41 counties the situation is confused and unsatisfactory. Only 10 counties maintain, full-time, professional, county-paid probation officers. The remaining 31 counties rely upon the services of the sheriff, or in many instances, of an office secretary who merely keeps records and writes letters, rarely going outside of the office.

Probation case work is an integral and vital part of crime control machinery. Viewed in this light it should attain professional stature, a desideratum ardently hoped for by social workers and students of good government. Persons chosen to be probation officers should be selected on the basis of education, professional viewpoint, and possessing the particular knack of dealing with delinquents. Salaries should be adequate to attract top-grade individuals. Clearly this subject merits serious study by law makers, court officials, and citizens of the State.

The Department of Probation and Parole at the present time is carrying unusually heavy case loads, and is unable to assume additional probation assignments from counties and groups of counties comprising judicial circuits, that might wish to avail themselves of the official duties of its officers.

Following the establishment of a department of probation and parole in 1939, its duties were administered by a director, an office secretary, and 6 probation and parole field officers. For ease in supervision the State was sub-divided into 6 districts with a field officer in each district. On January 1, 1940, 233 parolees were being supervised. The departmental budget for the year 1939-1940 was $50,000, of which sum $31,182.53 was expended, and $18,817.47 returned to the state treasury.

Since 1940 the number of parolees and probationers being supervised by the department and its field officers has increased rapidly. Officers employed by the department were increased from 6 to 8, and the number of districts in the State correspondingly increased to 8.

On May 1, 1946, a total of 791 parolees from the West Virginia penitentiary, from out-of-state penitentiaries, and from county jails were under supervision. This represents an increase of almost four-fold over the 1940 total. An additional 146 probationers from the various criminal and circuit courts and from other states were supervised by the department, making a grand total of 937 parolees and probationers. This total excludes a large number of parolees processed through the department for induction into the armed services of the United States and not actively carried.

In spite of a monumental increase of case load, and additional duties arising during the war in connection with the processing for induction into the armed forces of hundreds of parolees, and further heavy investigational and supervisory tasks relating to the transfer into the State on parole of a large number of inmates of other penitentiaries, and further duties relating to cooperation with the state university in the farm program, there has been no corresponding increase in the number of officers employed by the department, nor in funds earmarked for its operation.

The current department appropriation is $51,250 per annum, whereas for the fiscal year 1939-1940 it was $50,000 per annum. The cost to the State at present of maintaining an inmate of the penitentiary on parole amounts to 15 cents per day. As compared to the national average cost of parole administration this figure is very low, and considerably lower than costs in adjoining states, such as Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and several southern states.

The cost per day per inmate of supporting an offender in the penitentiary of the State fluctuates from year to year depending upon conditions, however, in 1939 it amounted to 39 cents. Since 1939 the institutional cost has risen to a large extent, and at last reports had almost doubled.

The disparity between the costs of parole administration and prison administration is tremendous. Obviously, parole is economically sound in a financial sense and reflects a large savings to the taxpayers who support the probation and parole system, the penitentiary, and the other institutions of the State. The savings reflected in the salvaging of human lives, the return of the inmate on parole to a job and the support of his family, and the consequent relieving the Department of Public Assistance and charitable institutions of considerable burden, is immeasurable.

However, due to limited appropriation, which does not afford the employment of additional officers and the payment of adequate salaries to these trained men who make the investigations and perform the difficult and dangerous case work necessary and vital to the readjustment and rehabilitation of the offenders from our penal institutions, the department cannot well assume additional duties, and in a large sense is already overburdened.

Were additional trained and top-grade probation and parole officers made available, many borderline cases could be paroled from the penitentiary and jails, and adequate supervision given them.

In the granting of paroles due weight is given a number of important factors. These criteria are the recommendations of the court officials, the lay sentiment of the community, prior criminal record, the facts of the crime, the prison conduct since incarceration, the social history of the offender's parents, grandparents, and siblings, the social and economic conditions of the prospective home, the work and educational history, the prospect of bona-fide job upon release, and the mental and physical health of the offender. All are accorded their proper relationships in a well-balanced picture to be studied by the director and staff in determining the propriety of granting relief. Any opposition to the prospective program is studied most carefully. Effort is made to determine whether such opposition is based upon honest conviction, or upon blind bias and personal vindictiveness.

Carefully kept statistics available in the department show that offenders who have been given an opportunity to make good on parole, have in the main, made an honest effort to atone for their anti-social acts, and to readjust in large measure their tattered lives. Though miraculous reformation is exceedingly rare, recidivism is held to a minimum, and mistakes in social conduct and participation in crime occur less frequently. Serious violations of parole are dealt with summarily by the department and the offender returned to prison. Since 1939, 1,702 inmates of the West Virginia penitentiary have been released on parole, while 170 parolees were returned to the penitentiary for parole violations. Thus revocations amount to approximately 9% of releases, a percentage somewhat accelerated since the end of the war, and due in large part to post-war dislocations.

More than 300 West Virginia parolees served their country with distinction in the various branches of the armed forces during World War II. A large number lost their lives in armed conflict, and others while serving with distinction in the ranks, rose through successive promotions to be non-commissioned and commissioned officers. Those who lost their lives, have, whenever it was reported to the department, been recommended to the Governor for posthumous pardons, and in each instance being granted.

Among parolees serving in the armed forces only three dishonorable discharges were granted.

In addition to those serving their country in the armed forces other hundreds of parolees made vital contributions to the war effort by working in defense plants, in the manifold coal mines of the State, on the farms, and in the diversified industries of other states wherever accepted under the inter-state compact.

In 1939 West Virginia became a signatory to an inter-state compact, which was ratified by 41 of the 48 states of the union, and providing for mutual cooperation on parole matters of the signatory states. Under its provisions offenders from signatory states incarcerated in penal institutions are granted parole and permitted to return to their home states where their families and friends reside, providing the receiving state gives its consent after investigation, and suitable home and job are available.

Currently the compact is operating largely to the advantage of this State. The Department of Probation and Parole is supervising 110 parolees and 14 probationers from the penal institutions and courts of the various states, while inmates of the West Virginia penitentiary paroled to other states number 151.

The concept of parole is that society in many instances could best be served by the release of human beings from prison, and thereafter under a long range program encompassing several years permit these offenders the opportunity to reorientate themselves into the community guided by a trained case worker. Under such a concept, parole is not leniency, but is a sound and scientific principle, endorsed by all leading penologists and sociologists. It points the way to the reform and betterment of society through the rehabilitation of the delinquent member.
